Board approves new disposal ground, providing no refuse burned and garbage is buried

Special board of the Kelowna Rural Regulated Area, yesterday afternoon approved the opening of a new garbage disposal area near the intersection of the KLO road and Pendozi Street.

Refuse would be dumped behind the United Church in low-lying areas, and would temporarily replace the present disposal grounds on Richter Street. It was stipulated, however, that there would be no burning of refuse, and that all dumping must be under the strict control of the health department.

Appeal board was composed of E. R. Oatman, chairman; Nick Matick, secretary; M. J. Marshall, G. D. Cameron and Ald. R. D. Knox.

Under the proposed plan, the land would be reclaimed by the church after low-lying areas were filled. Gordon D. Herbert, representing the church, told the board that steps would be taken to assure proper drainage, and that garbage would be covered by a layer of earth after it is dumped. A bulldozer would be kept on the site.

Strongest protests were levied by two auto court owners, Reginald Gwillim and Eric Waldron. They claimed that tourists would steer clear of resorts if there was a nearby refuse dump.

No paper Monday

There will be no publication of The Kelowna Courier on Monday, November 12.

While Sunday will be observed as Remembrance Day, next Monday has been declared a provincial statutory holiday. All business offices and banks will close. Only exception will be federal offices.

As the federal government does not recognize November 12 as a holiday, there will be normal mail delivery service. Other federal offices will also be open.

RESTAURATEURS MEET

Okanagan branch of the Canadian Restaurant Association will hold a special meeting in the Royal Anne Hotel next Wednesday commencing at 8 o'clock.

1958 commodore

Lieut-Governor F. M. Ross has accepted the post of commodore at the 1958 centennial regatta. Word to this effect was received by Mayor J. J. Ladd this week.

The Lieut-Governor said he plans to take up residence in Kelowna during the water show, and "... give our visit there as much of the atmosphere of Government House at Victoria as is possible."

He will be accompanied by Mrs. Ross; two secretaries and at least one aid-de-camp. Lieut-Governor Ross said he has not been advised if any member of the Royal Family would be in B.C. during the centennial celebration.

Speculation is that Princess Margaret will visit B.C.

Peachland growers want box-levy system changed

PEACHLAND—Recommendation that the B.C. Fruit Board levy of 1½ cents a box be assessed on the current year's crop, will be submitted to the annual convention of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association to be held in Penticton next January.

Matter was discussed at length at the annual meeting of the Peachland local of the BCFGA Tuesday night. It was pointed out that in the past the levy has been assessed on the previous year's crop, thereby creating a hardship in short crop years. During the discussion, one grower pointed out that the fruit board had $340,000 of the growers' money of which they had loaned B.C. Fruit Processors $198,000, the rest being in bonds and in the bank.

C. O. Whinton was re-elected chairman of the local; E. P. Turner, vice-chairman, and Mrs. W. G. Renfrew, secretary. Mr. Whinton will also be recommended to the Southern District Council for the nomination to the central executive of the BCFGA. Recommendations for BCFGA president; members of the board of governors, B.C. Fruit Processors and B.C. Fruit Board, were left to the discretion of purely delegates. The two Peachland representatives to the convention will be Mr. Whinton and Mrs. Renfrew.

ROYAL COMMISSION

Peachland growers also approved a resolution requesting the provincial government, with or without federal assistance, to take immediate steps to set up a Royal Commission to investigate all phases of the fruit industry from producer to consumer, with emphasis on marketing and distribution of crop. It was pointed out both the premier and the minister of agriculture favored a full-scale enquiry.

Last week, however, agriculture minister Ralph Chetwynd informed the BCFGA that such a request would have to come from the annual convention.

During the question period, Kurt Domi asked the value of government loans. "Just what value has an orchard with most of the trees not producing," he questioned.

W. G. Renfrew felt that until growers can get a scheme of "cash upon delivery" the orchardists would find it harder and harder to finance.

PROCESSED FRUIT

One grower said packed boxes of fruit are again being sent to processing plants. Majority agreed that this was poor practice, especially with a short crop. It was pointed out growers were again paying unnecessary packing charges. It was estimated 10,000 boxes had been diverted to the cannery.

M. D. Wilson, of Glenmore, claimed more than one million boxes of apples were sent to processors last year, of which 80,000 were packed boxes on which the packing charge was 82 cents per box.

When a committee took a survey in 1949, it was found the cost of production was $1.23. During the 1955 season, it cost $1,022,000 to run B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., B.C. Fruit Board and pay for advertising.

Mr. Price, of East Kelowna, claimed text of the resolution requesting a federal Royal Commission, included vegetables by the time it had passed the Canadian Horticultural Council. By vegetables being included, meant an investigation in eight more provinces where vegetables are grown. He cited this as one of the reasons the federal government turned down a request for a Royal Commission.

The chairman explained that this was an annual meeting, no industry officials had been invited.

Citizens will pay respects to war dead at Remembrance Day service Sunday

Kelowna and district residents will pay their respects to the war dead at a Remembrance Day service to be conducted in front of the Cenotaph at 11 a.m. Sunday. A similar service will be held in the Rutland high school grounds at 2 p.m. the same day. Legion Padre, Rev. R. S. Leitch, will conduct the service in the City Park.

Total of eight units will take part in the parade which will form up at the entrance of the City Park.

After the service, the parade will reform and march out of the park at the Leon Avenue exit, north on Water and east on Doyle Street to the Memorial Arena, where a wreath will be placed on the plaque by the Legion president. While the wreath is being placed, the "Last Post" will be played by a member of the pipe band. After this, the parade will march south on Ellis, back to the Legion and dismiss.

The Kelowna high school band, under the direction of Mark Rose, will take up a position at the south west corner of the cenotaph, and play appropriate music until the parade arrives.

NO FIRES

No fires have been reported to the Kelowna Volunteer Fire Brigade since November 2.

Board allows church appeal

Appeal board has allowed the appeal of First United Church for extending the present structure at the corner of Richter Street and Bernard Avenue. It is planned to increase the present seating capacity from 230 to 600. The addition would bring the building over 15,000 square feet.

Ald. Robert Knox informed council this week that a fire wall would separate the church from the auditorium and Sunday school room.

Appeal board will shortly hear an appeal on behalf of John Horn, who wants to construct a building on Lawrence Avenue. Proposed site is in the residential zone. Structure would house offices for physicians, dentists and a land surveyor, Mr. Horn said.

Ald. Jack Treadgold admitted that while the vacant lot acted as a "buffer" zone between residential and business areas, a well-designed building would add to the area.

Bridge building operations well underway

These two units when they get together, will be responsible for the digging operation for the bridge piers. The ramp on the left is a muck chute, and the pipe frame visible at the top of the ramp will be a 1,000 cu. ft. hopper when completed. The whole assembly is mounted on a 200 ft. barge.

The machine above is digging the graving dock where the cement pontoons will be constructed, but will be mounted on the front of the barge later. Presently employing a 2½ yard drag line bucket, it will use a 1½ yard clam shell bucket when mounted on the barge, and will lift its mouthful up to the hopper.

The sand will be released from the hopper and drift down the chute, dispersing in deeper water, and obviating the necessity of removal barges for the material dug up. —Photos by Geo. Inglis

Westbank youth injured after striking dog

WESTBANK—Bob Johnson, 18, is recovering in Kelowna General Hospital from serious injuries sustained in a motorcycle accident.

The youth was riding along 4th Avenue toward Highway 97 when he struck a dog owned by Miss Jeanne Brown. The animal was killed instantly, but Johnson was thrown heavily to the ground. In addition to concussion, he suffered severe bruises and a cut hand. Don Short, a companion riding tandem, was thrown clear and escaped injury.

Lest we forget

Poppy campaign debt to dead, duty to living

The Legion's national poppy campaign is a debt to the dead and a standing of war has been greatly diminished. The ceremony of the poppy gives depth to such shallow conceptions of war.

Each year the poppy campaign, and the subsequent wearing of the poppy at thousands of cenotaphs, says in effect: "This is the price a nation pays for war."

Today, under the spectre of the H-bomb, it reminds us that the price of another war would be terrifyingly reminder is necessary for at least two reasons, both of which are divorced from the prime aspect of paying tribute to the dead.

To more than four-and-a-half million Canadians the war is history—the product of old newspapers which they occasionally see on military anniversaries. These Canadians are our youth. Almost four-and-a-half million children were born since 1939. The remainder probably started school the week World War II was declared.

THE COLD PEACE

Even under normal circumstances, these people could not be expected to have a full appreciation of the horrible impact of war. But under present circumstances, their understanding of war has been greatly diminished. They read violent comics. They see violent movies and TV programs. They observe their parents reading, or ignoring, violent newspaper headlines.

They live in what their elders call "normal times." Yet their elders have overlooked the fact that the abnormal has now become normal; violence, slaughter and unrest have become part of our times.

Therefore, how can children who are steeped in "normal" conditions develop a full appreciation of the sacrifice of thousands of lives made before they were born?

One way is through the solemn observance of Remembrance. Watching death on a TV screen is one thing. Unfortunately, it appeals to the sense of drama in youth. But the solemnity of the Remembrance ceremony, the living grief of those who were left behind, these are the things which can be more emphatic than movies and magazines which glorify war.

REMEMBRANCE LIVES

The ceremony at the cenotaph is real. It is an immediate and personal experience which takes the observer beyond the final scene in a movie, or the last panel in a comic book where the hero has gone to a glorious death. The ceremony of the poppy gives depth to such shallow conceptions of war.

Each Legion member has a duty to see that the youth in his community comes closer to seeing, feeling and knowing the anatomy of war. One way of doing this is through the sponsorship of school essay contests. Ask students to investigate the names on the local honor roll. Who were these names? How did they differ from themselves?

Ask today's teenagers to listen to the music of the pre-war era. This was the music of the dead. It throbs with the restless rhythm of youth; it jumped with their exuberance, and it sighed with their dreams.

Ask today's youth to examine their school desks. Those initials, faintly scratched on the surface, were probably put there by a student about to finish high school—a student with a world to win and a life to lose.

WHO WERE THEY?

We must impress these things upon our youth; make them realize that "the dead" is not just a name. The tragedy of war sharpens when the dead come back vividly. The second need for Remembrance is found in the attitude of some adults—the so-called sophists—towards the living. To these, there are no heroes. To these, the custom of Remembrance is barbaric, a primitive rite. The war never touched many of these people. Perhaps that is why they feel self-conscious about it, and, in defence, feel compelled to decry "the pagan custom of Remembrance."

Unfortunately, the rite of such pseudo-sophistication is increasing. The task of preserving the significance and the purpose of Remembrance will increase proportionately. PRACTICAL MEANING

Regarded in this light, the purpose of Remembrance is indeed a practical meaning. It means that without the reminder of war's legacy, public opinion will drift even further down the stream of apathy. Present apathy towards our state of unpreparedness is indeed alarming enough. But each year the opinion becomes more lethargic, and each year the danger mounts.

In our years, the normal has become abnormal; a strong military force is a nation's guarantee of peace. And a nation appreciates peace only when it knows the true price of war.

INSPIRED PACKERS ROAR OUT OF LEAGUE CELLAR

Packers rock and roll over Vees to climb out of Okanagan league cellar

The game's the thing . . .

By GEORGE INGLIS

Some rousing action in Tuesday night's Packers 8-1 victory over the Penticton V's is seen above.

The attacking Penticton players are ballet dancer Bob Harper, (No. 12), and mighty mite Walt Peacosh (No. 8), two of the most dangerous in the green and white uniform this year.

Defenders are Al Pyett, the slap shot king, on the left of picture, and Jack Power, off in the corner. That little man with the puck firmly clenched in his fist is stellar net-minder Dave Gatherum, who has just stopped a drive by Peacosh.

Kelowna Packers roared out of the OSHL cellar before a large and enthusiastic hometown crowd on Tuesday night, outplaying the youthful Penticton V's at every turn, to take an 8-1 victory, and third place in the league, just two points behind Kamloops Chiefs.

Bulk of the scoring was done by defenceman Al Pyett and forward Jim Middleton, each of whom earned a hat-trick. "First blood" in senior hockey came to Kelowna home-brew rookie Al Schaefer, when he lit the red light for the first time in senior company.

Goalie Dave Gatherum's shut out went out the window when referee Bill Neilson failed to notice the fabulous Packer net-minder had hurt his ankle, and let the play go on. Gatherum came back after treatment, and obviously feeling pain, played magnificent, shut-out hockey for the rest of the game.

Most dangerous man on the ice off for the first call of high stick was Walter Peacosh, tiny left wing from Sherridan, Man., who is pivoted by Gerry Leonard and flanked by Bob Harper to make a powerful Vee forward line. Shifty and fast, Peacosh never gives up, and on three occasions he was let go for that second too long, and only stopped by outstanding net work.

NO MORE BLUES
Coming out in the second with a one goal lead, Packers started to show the fans they were rid of the "sandwich session blues", which has been plaguing them in early session games.

The period wasn't two minutes old when V's Kevin Conway went to the sin-bin, and Packers put on a power play. Roche and Orv Lavelle were in possession, passing back and forth, looking for an opening.

Kaiser came into the act, and whipped the puck out to Pyett on point. He slammed a hard one that was headed for the corner of the net, when Middleton, just off the net, tipped it in for the counter.

A minute later, after the Packers had changed lines to put Bill Jones play, using Mike Durban as an extra forward, Kaiser, Roche, Middleton, and Durban went into a passing spree that had McLelland dizzy trying to keep track of the puck, and Middleton sank it for his second of the game.

The goal put Durban back into the game, but he went into a sticking frenzy, attacking Bill Swarbrick. Swarbrick retaliated, and both men went off for a minor and a misconduct.

Seconds after the teams were back at full strength, with the misconduct still being served, Middleton completed his hat-trick with an impossible lean angle shot from the left side.

A note of unhappiness was the second period injury of Jablonski, who suffered a cracked bone in his hand when he put up his hands to fend off Dave Wall's swinging stick. The rangy winger will probably be out of the game for two or three weeks.

BOUQUETS—To Gatherum for a magnificent game in goal, and a return to play in spite of pain.

To the Packers as a team for rallying around Gatherum when he returned to the ice.

To Pyett for the heavy dividends earned by his deadly point shot.

To Schaefer for the first of what will probably be many fine goals in for a back hand score, but he tripped over his skates, and the puck dribbled off into the corner.

Fast play ranged up and down the ice until the ten minute mark, when Peacosh was off on a holding penalty and Packers had a power play on. They were passing beautifully, but couldn't finish up. The puck slipped out to Pyett on point and he drove it hard with his out as pivot for Jablonski and Schaefer, the red and white squad had the heat on.

At eight minutes, Roche went to the box to serve a penalty for the team having too many men on the ice. On the power play, Gatherum did a wide split, and shedded pain when he tried to get back up. He made it a hard way down again as his leg caved under him. No one seemed to notice, and he played screaming around in the Packer zone. Gatherum made one lovely save, grimacing with pain, but the point shot by Conway found its way in off a leg and play was called.

Gatherum was helped off, and came back a few minutes later to finish the game in obvious pain. The Packers team rallied to a man to beat the popular net-minder for the rest of the game.

SCHAEFER STRIKES
At the 15-minute mark Roche bore senior company.

To Peacosh for dishing out the finest brand of hard-working hockey seen in many a shower to coach O'Reilly, for his care in picking up young Shawn O'Reilly, when he ventured on the ice.

To Orv Lavelle on his return to the ice from his bed of flu.

BRICKBATS—To Durston, for his clumsy attempts to take off people's heads with his stick.

To ref Neilson, for missing a big portion of play.

DRESSING ROOM HIGHLIGHTS
Young Schaefer, sweat pouring off in streams, received the hearty congratulations of his mates on his first senior goal. In answer to coach O'Reilly, he said earnestly, "Yeah, but I should have had two more."

Shouts and laughter were the order in the Packers dressing room, and the boys received the hoarse-voiced congratulations of coach O'Reilly and members of the Packers executive.

SUMMARY
First period: Kelowna, Pyett (Roche, Middleton), 10:38. Penalties: Peacosh (holding), 9:38. Laidler (interference), 13:13.

Second period: Kelowna, Middleton (Pyett, Kaiser), 2:24. Kelowna, Pyett (Jones), 3:55. Penticton, Conway (Bathgate), 10:10. Kelowna, Schaefer (Roche), 15:10. Penalties: Conway (int.), 1:34. Laidler (board), 5:17. Roche (team penalty), 8:03. Laidler (tripping), 10:40.

Third period: Kelowna, Kaiser (Pyett, Middleton), 6:33. Penticton, Conway (Bathgate), 10:10. Kelowna, Middleton (Kaiser, Roche), 15:47. Kelowna, Middleton (Calley), 19:25.

Penalties: Nicholl (high sticking), Middleton (int.), 10:54. Durston (high sticking), 15:10. Durston, Swarbrick (high sticking) minor and misconduct, 17:11. Bosscha (slashing) 19:55.

Defence man Jack Durston went into the corner on the right side, and slipped a smooth pass out to the goal front. Young Schaefer, ranging in on the goal, stopped and shot the puck in one motion, making a clean goal.

In the final period, Kaiser deflected in a slap shot by Pyett, and two minutes later Pyett made his hat-trick on a clean point shot which found its way in the way in.

The association's committee will have to make a decision on their disposition for future play.

JACK O'REILLY

The man at the helm of the Packers hockey club is a man who has played hockey with some of the best. He has played for fun, back home on the wind-swept rinks of Portage la Prairie, and he has played for money, before crowds of more than 10,000 in the glittering stadium at Seattle.

But to Jack O'Reilly, an emotional, battling Irishman whose out-thrust chin is the signal for action stations, it is the game itself that is paramount, and not the individual.

As a kid in Portage la Prairie, Jack played with some of the best in the business, on a team of youngsters that trounced the Oshawa Generals in 1942 in Winnipeg for the Memorial Cup.

Seeing hockey is a life's pursuit to make a livelihood, he started out on the long, long hockey trail, but not before he had taken a three-year recess, while he helped straighten out the world as a torpedo-man in the navy during World War Two.

HIGH-FLYING BOOMER

O'Reilly followed the high-flying boomer hockey train then, with the Regina Caps in their first year in Western Canada senior "A" play, and with Seattle Iron Men the following year.

He suffered a broken back with Seattle that year, and came back with New Westminster Royals the following year, and Vancouver Canucks the year after that.

But the fighting Irishman, at 24 years of age, was getting tired of the hockey trail, and decided to look into the business opportunities in Kelowna, where they were going to open an arena and form a hockey team.

On November 11, 1948, Jack stood with the crowd of people in front of the new Kelowna and District Memorial Arena, and took part in the dedication service. As he stood there, he took in more than the words spoken by Archdeacon D. S. Catchpole, he drank in a meaning far deeper than the surface ceremony.

"Here are a few thousand people," he thought, "dedicating this arena in memory of those boys who were less fortunate than myself. They wouldn't want this arena to be just a commercial venture, but a place where the youngsters could also learn to play the game that Canadians like above any other."

MINOR HOCKEY IMPORTANT

And Mr. O'Reilly has had this in mind ever since that day. He had it in mind when he started working with minor hockey that first year he was in town. He had it in mind when he coached the Packers juveniles to a provincial championship. He had it in mind when he created an uproar at a BCATA meeting a year ago, when he protested against the changing of an integral rule in hockey regarding body checking.

Since he hung up his skates in 1950, he has devoted himself with great intensity to developing the young hockey players, teaching them to play the game with every fibre of their being, for the game itself.

Not against commercialism in hockey, O'Reilly feels that the player is entitled to "whatever the traffic will bear." When he arrived in the Okanagan Valley, and saw the size of the arenas, and the populations of the cities, he felt that players here should look to a livelihood to augment their hockey income.

"I think that the players in these towns should provide the best hockey they have in them, and if there is any profit made from it, it should go right back to those players. But I do not think they should demand excessively from the game, to the point where they cripple it, and possibly fatally injure it."

DESIRE TO PERPETUATE

His feelings for hockey are intense, and he has nothing but contempt for any player who will give less than his best. He feels the game is our greatest sport, and it is his earnest desire to perpetuate it through the kids. "The game gives them a good physique, teaches them to think, and gives them a healthy outlook on life."

The game is paramount, says this chunky Irishman who will back up his beliefs with two square fists if the occasion should arise, and should never be sacrificed in favor of personalities. Through the medium of this game, he feels, the whole world can be taught a lesson on the subject of Canadian virility and sportsmanship.

In his private life, O'Reilly is an insurance agent. Married in 1950 to a girl from his home of Portage la Prairie, Betty Andrich, he is the proud father of two daughters and one son: Judy, 6; Shawn 4; and Wendy, 2. The O'Reillys will be welcoming another addition this month, also.

This is the man at the Packers' helm—a dedicated forceful, demanding and courageous person. Under his guidance, the boys in the red and white may or may not be Allan Cup contenders, but one thing sure they will at least be hockey players.

Nothing less will satisfy O'Reilly.

Canucks dump Chiefs, take Minor hockey firmer hold on OSHL lead teams open 56-57 swing

VERNON—The league-leading Vernon Canadians increased their hold on first place in the OSHL Tuesday night when they dumped the second-place Kamloops Chiefs 6-1.

Both teams started off at a fast clip with each club missing good scoring chances within the first few minutes of the game, before captain Johnny Harms took a double relay from Lowe and King to put the Canadians out in front 1-0. Within a minute the Chiefs were right back clip with each club missing good scoring chances within the first few minutes of the game, before captain Johnny Harms took a double relay from Lowe and King to put the Canadians out in front 1-0. Within

The second goal of the Canadians seemed to take the starch out of the Chiefs, because from then until the end of the game they could not get untracked and no punch was left.

The Canadians scored three unanswered goals in the middle session, with Odie picking up two of them and Agar notching a singleton.

Blair, who had played a great game for the Canadians was finally rewarded in the final canto when he completed a three-way passing play with Lowe and Harms.

The Canadians led only 12 players. Merv Bidoski being on the sick list. The Chiefs had the full quota of 15. Even with that handicap the Canadians outplayed and outlasted the Kamloops club from the middle of the second period on.

Penticton fails to show at valley soccer meeting

No Penticton representatives were present at the annual general meeting of the Okanagan Valley senior soccer association, held in Vernon last Sunday.

Kelowna soccer enthusiast Bob McKinstry was elected as president of the valley body for the forthcoming year, taking over from Bill Pagan, many years active in soccer circles.

Post of honorary president was conferred on Mr. Pagan in recognition of his many services.

Other officers elected were: vice-president, Art Chapman of Kamloops; secretary-treasurer, Barney Woods of Kelowna, and league statistician, John Wiebe, also of Kelowna.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE
A special committee was formed to look into the recent developments in Penticton, leading up to their climactic failure to appear in Kelowna for a crucial league game.

Nothing definite in the way of a decision on the Penticton Queen's Park Rangers' status in the league could be arrived at without further investigation.

Previous years saw Penticton riding high in the soccer picture, with a hot-shot team, composed largely of experienced Old Country players, and hiding over any competition in the league.

Last year they were undefeated, and this spring the closest to them was Kelowna, who tied them in league play. This fall, however, the local Hotshots started to roll, and the Penticton team started to show

TOO MANY ROAD GAMES
The first protest from the southern team was at the schedule. In the spring half of the season, they had a have to make a decision on their disposition for future play.

The first games of the Kelowna Minor Hockey Association got underway last weekend, with action in every department but the juveniles.

PUPS
On Saturday, Royals def. Flyers, 6-1, and on Monday Quakers edged the Canucks, 1-0.

PEE WEES
In the Pee Wee division there were three Saturday games. In the first, the Legion edged the Kinsmen 6-5 in a high-scoring affair.

The Elks downed the Kiwanis 3-1 in the second game, and the Rotary blanked the Gyros 6-0.

BANTAMS
Two bantam games took place on Saturday morning, with the Bruins defeating the Canadians 6-2 in the first one, and the Red Wings downing the Rangers 5-2 in the second.

MIDGETS
Monday night's midget game saw the Mounties hand the Pats a 5-1 beating.

For this week's minor hockey games, read "Sports Menu", on your Courier sports pages.

Following this, however, they failed to field a team on more than one occasion for their road games, upsetting the balance of the teams' schedules. In some instances, they failed to give warning of their intentions to remain away.

In their first meeting with Kelowna this fall, they showed up two men short, and borrowed one from the crowd, losing the match 5-1, which represented not only the first loss they had suffered in many miles of play, but a greater goal against record than they have had in some time.

In the next scheduled encounter in Kelowna, they are reported to have collected in Penticton and then decided not to make the trip to Kelowna, in spite of the fact that the local team was unaware of their intentions, and one of the first soccer crowds of the season showed up to watch. The game was declared forfeit.

The association's committee will have to make a decision on their disposition for future play.

SPORTLIGHT

BY GEORGE INGLIS

REALLY ROLLING

The Doubling Thomases pulled their tongues out of their collective cheeks on Tuesday night, and breathed a sigh of relief as they watched those Packers rolling high, wide and handsome over Penticton V's. Up until Tuesday night, it could have been a brief-lived winning streak such as the Packers have had before.

Now it begins to look as though the boys in red and white are really in stride, and going to set the league on fire. Only a short step behind the second-place Chiefs from Kamloops, they can quite easily move into second place alongside their northern rivals this Friday night on home ice.

This happy set of circumstances is brought about, in large measure, by that stocky little Irishman, Jack O'Reilly, who has proven to be the key to open the door that has separated the Packers from the path to glory this far.

O'Reilly is only one fighting Irishman, however, and it takes about 15 men to win a hockey game. Lately, the boys have been proving they are it.

In goal, sprightly Dave Gatherum is a beauty to behold. Fast on his feet, lightning with his hands, he is a ball of fire in the nets, acting like a gad fly on any laggards. Quick to move out, Dave is a real angle player, and it's a lucky man who can beat him on a breakaway.

Bob Gilhooley, an old pro, is proving to be better every game as his legs catch up to his ideas, and the cobwebs of his long lay-off are blown away. Orv Lavell, out for a couple of games with the flu, is back in there pitching and giving the rear guard a finished look. Al Pyett, always a steady defenceman, is having a big year, and his slap shot has raised him up into the forward ranks in the scoring department. Buddy Laidler is showing up much better than last year, and should be an aggressive, rushing defenceman in time. Jack Power could also use experience, especially in positional play.

Up front, Bill "Bugs" Jones is really on fire, with his dancing style of skating, his smart head work and his play-making ability all adding up to a fine center man. Don "Old Sol" Culley, is proving to be an iron man, and a great lesson to the younger fellows who think a pair of legs can beat a head any day.

Bill Swarbrick is displaying plenty of hustle this semester, and is handling the back checking chores well.

Mike Durban is working hard after a late start this season, and is showing up well as a two-way man who still can lay claim to being one of the best checkers in the league.

Young Al Schaefer is a hard-working young product of the local vineyards, and he will prove to be a great asset to the team if he continues to show as well as he has so far. He drew "first blood" against Penticton on a pretty, rushing shot that left Ivan McLelland standing still.

Big Jim Middleton was a happy hockey player the other night, racking up a hat-trick for himself.

A tough break for rangy Greg Jablonski has side-lined the fast-skating forward for an indefinite period. Greg suffered a couple of broken bones in his hand the other night, when he put up his hand to fend off a body check, and his hand got twisted the wrong way.

O'Reilly will have new faces out to practice for the next few nights, as he tries to trim his fast-sailing craft for the long stretch into the top spot.

THE EAST IS CALLING

From the eastern fastnesses of that august body known as the CAHA has come additional pearls of wisdom reputed to be the answer to Canada's hopes for a world championship. Naturally, the team that whistled through all opposition in Canada to the Allan Cup is not considered good enough for their unreserved backing as a world contender.

However, the Montreal junior Canadiens is definitely good enough, they feel, but as a nice gesture toward the geography of the nation, they are going to permit the western team to play a three-game series with the younger eastern crew to determine which of the twain shall compete.

George Agar, manager-coach of Vernon Canadians, holders of the Allan Cup, has agreed to the series, contingent on certain schedule and financial difficulties which will have to be ironed out. Ed Benson of Trail will be in charge of the Vernon Canadians' problems, as president of the BCAHA.

Everything is rosy, except for the fact that the whole thing is about as big a slap in our collective western eyes as the eastern hands have ever dealt.

The cold facts are that a team from the Okanagan league, grudgingly permitted to represent Canada because of their position as Allan Cup champions, went over to Europe and beat the pants off the opposition and came home with the world's championship. This fact is irrevocable—that team was the Penticton V's.

The next cold fact is also on record. The following year the Kitchener-Waterloo Dutchmen, highly touted as the team to carry Canada's name into the jousts with all the finesse and flourish that the "Gas House Gang" of the previous year had lacked, fell flat on their face with a resounding crash that was heard, all over the world.

Now, taking these two facts on their merit, I would be inclined to say that last year's team was just a poor contender. I wouldn't say that these boys necessarily represented an average Allan Cup winner, either, since they were forced to cut some of their ex-pros to come up to Olympic standards. This would not be necessary in this year's tournament.

However, the CAHA decided that if the cream of the OHA wasn't good enough, the Allan Cup team would not do, and they would have to go further afield. Several schemes later, and many devious plans from their first one, they have decided that a Montreal junior team is the logical answer to the problem. Other than being close to the sancrosanct headquarters of the mighty CAHA, and being owned by the Montreal Canadiens' Frank Selke, they do not say just what qualifications the young fellows have.

As a belated attempt to assuage the irate westerners who have the gall to be annoyed with this pussy-foot manner of operation, they have extended a lame invitation to Vernon to play a series with them, at terrific additional expense above that which would be incurred if the Canucks simply went over to represent Canada.

Somehow, the world tournament, always a fifth wheel in the Canadian hockey picture, is rapidly becoming a flat tire!

Simpsons-Sears will use natural gas

First big commercial installation of natural gas in Kelowna will be the new Simpson-Sears department store, now under construction. Using in the neighborhood of 1,000,000 BTU's every hour in the hot water heating system, the building will be a big gas consumer. Above, P. "Cap" Capozzi, owner of the new building, is signed up by Wilf Grant, district representative of the Inland Natural Gas Co.

November bride honored at many showers

Miss Wilma Hecko, whose marriage to Mr. W. H. Woodland took place last Saturday, was honored at several bridal showers prior to her marriage.

At the first shower, held early in October at the home of Mrs. K. Gripman, 787 Stockwell Ave., friends met to present linens to the guest of honor, with carpentering, the work followed by the evening of a scrapbook of the life of the bridegroom, used as the theme for the decorations. Saws, hammers, chisels and all sorts of carpentering tools were used throughout the room, and to those were added quotations pertaining to this line of work. Refreshments brought, and evening of fun to a close.

Mrs. Vowels was the next hostess, when guests gathered and brought gifts of china to her Wolsley Ave. home, and this time, the bride's dressmaking career was chosen as the theme, with home to guests from 2:00 to 9:00 p.m. During the afternoon the choir dressed, suits, hats, gloves and coats, together with applicable saying chosen to sing at the wedding on November 3, sang for the guest, of been presented and opened, games honor, and presented her with a field, Armstrong, Lumby, Vernon were played and refreshments served.

A kitchen shower in honor of the bride-elect was held next at the home of Mrs. W. F. Morton at Bankhead, and accompanying each gift was a tin of spice. Gifts were presented in a modern replica of a split-level house, and during the evening a scrapbook of the life of the bride and groom from babyhood to the present, was made. Pictures were cut from magazines to illustrate the decorations. Saws, hammers, chisels and all sorts of carpentering tools were used throughout the room, and to those were added quotations pertaining to this line of work. Refreshments brought, and evening of fun to a close.

On October 30 guest gathered at the home of the bride's parents for a trousseau tea, when Mr. and Mrs. Hecko and the bride-elect were at home to guests from 2:00 to 9:00 p.m. During the afternoon the choir dressed, suits, hats, gloves and coats, together with applicable saying chosen to sing at the wedding on November 3, sang for the guest, of been presented and opened, games honor, and presented her with a field, Armstrong, Lumby, Vernon were played and refreshments served.

and the promise of a recording of the songs to be sung at her wedding.

20 shooters attend Ocoela turkey shoot

Over 50 shooters took part in the Ocoela Fish and Game Club Turkey Shoot held last Sunday in Winfield from 10 a.m. till dark.

Approximately 40 prizes were given away; 10 chickens and 10 hams being added to the list of 20 turkeys.

Due to the large number of contestants, the break down into four classes was necessary—novice, amateur, semi-pro and professional. Entries were included from Winfield, Armstrong, Lumby, Vernon and Kelowna.

Receives past exalted ruler's jewel

In charge of installation of officers at the Kelowna lodge of the B.P.O.E. last Monday night was Harold Dawson, District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler for district No. 6.

Above, Mr. Dawson is seen presenting the Past Exalted Ruler's jewel to William Weiss, facing camera, and congratulating him on his splendid performance of duties for the past year.

Ten-month tax collections show increase

Stated to attend the convention of the Social Credit League being held in Vancouver today, tomorrow and Saturday are the following members of the Social Credit Women's Auxiliary of Kelowna: Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, Mrs. I. W. Marr, Mrs. M. Shreff, Mrs. H. Rosier, Mrs. M. Degner, Mrs. A. Webber, Mrs. M. T. Pendleton, Mrs. H. Owen, Mrs. E. Klingbein, Mrs. T. Jantz and Mrs. C. Klinegar.

Today, Thursday, is known as Women's Day at the convention, while the League will hold sessions tomorrow and Saturday, year.

Tax collections during the first ten months of the year totalled $451,005.90, an increase of $20,156.93 compared with the same period last year, city comptroller Doug Herbert informed council this week. Percentage-wise this was 99.20, compared with 99.08 per cent last year.

FIRE HYDRANTS

Kelowna Volunteer Fire Department commended the city for having the fire hydrants painted.

"The bright colors are most appropriate and lend themselves extremely well for the purpose. They can be readily identified under poorest light conditions, the brigade informed council.

Instead of treasures stored away, That many long for day by day, It's fine to leave when we are gone, Rich memories that will linger on, A life that's filled with kindly deeds, Supplying others' wants and needs, Such life is more to be admired Than if great riches we acquired.

Ogopogo in Grey Cup parade

A large replica of Ogopogo, measuring more than 100 feet long and filled with helium gas, will appear in Toronto's Grey Cup parade this month.

Kelowna Board of Trade, City of Kelowna, Regatta Committee and Kelowna and District Tourist Council have donated a total of $625.00 toward sending Ogo to the football classic.

The replica will bear the words, "Kelowna, B.C., training camp of the B.C. Lions."

Dredge and barge to be stationed in vicinity of bridge

Mariners are advised that commencing next week and lasting for approximately two months, a clam-shell bucket dredge will be operating at the east main pier of the bridge on Okanagan Lake and a barge will be dumping gravel fill at the west main pier.

On completion of this work, a pile driver will be used to drive under water piles at both piers. The exhibit the required warning signals by day and lights at night, according to district marine agent, Keith Dixon.

Mariners are warned to exercise due caution when navigating in the vicinity of the two piers. Dredge, barge and pile driver will

City to call for sewage plant plans

Associated Engineers Ltd. of Vancouver, will be asked to draft plans for revamping the city sewage system to handle a population of 15,000. A representative of the firm discussed preliminary details with council Monday night.

At the end of the hour-long session, Aldermen were in favor of obtaining necessary engineering plans. Calling of tenders would be deferred pending receipt of a report from H. Peter Oberlander, recognized town planning authority. Council thought it would be about mid-summer before it would be in a position to call for tenders.

Proposed extension of the city limits would also have a bearing. Cost of the sewage project is expected to run around $240,000, although some of the work would be undertaken by city crews during slack periods, thus reducing the cost.

Flood control channel tenders called by gov't

Tenders for channel construction of section C-2 with the Okanagan flood control project have been called by the provincial department of highways. The advertisement calling for the tenders appears in this issue. All tenders must be submitted by November 22.

F. R. Hyland installed Gyro head

The executive of the Kelowna Gyro Club was officially installed in office last week by District Governor Clyde Nichol of Port Alberni. D. A. Chapman turned over the presidential gavel to F. R. Hyland.

Other officers installed were: C. E. R. Bazett, vice-president; B. M. Baker, secretary; L. Ashley, treasurer and D. H. Campbell, J. D. Monteith, A. Moss and R. G. Whillis, directors.

The installation ceremony was held at a dinner meeting at the Aquatic Club. R. Prosser proposed the toast to Gyro International, to which B. W. Johnston responded. The Gyroettes were toasted by L. Sanger and Mrs. B. W. Johnston replied.

Returning President D. Chapman reviewed the club's activities during the past year while His Worship Mayor J. J. Ladd, speaking on behalf of the city, complimented the club members for their civic efforts in many directions. H. Simpson presented the past president's pin to Mr. Chapman.

Following the installation ceremony, dancing was enjoyed. This year Gyros departed from the usual custom, with the evening being confined to club members and official guests.

TRADE LICENCE
City council this week granted a peddler's licence to Jake Reimer, representative for "Superclean."

A trade licence covering the renting of seven rooms, has been granted Bennett's Stores by city council.

Retired judge will address Canadian Club

His Honor Judge G. W. McPhee will address a dinner meeting of the Canadian Club of Kelowna, in the Legion Hall, November 13, at 6:30 p.m. His talk is entitled, "On Being Canadian."

Judge McPhee retired as district court judge in Moose Jaw, November 17, 1955.

He was born in Prince Edward Island, and educated at Prince of Wales College, Charlottetown. Mr. McPhee was first called to the bar in P.E.I. and later practiced law for several years in Yorkton, and was M.P. for that constituency, before accepting the district court judgeship in 1940.

He is a past president of the Canadian Club of Moose Jaw.

Woman hit by vehicle

Mrs. Ernie Jensen sustained head injuries and bruises when struck by an automobile at the intersection of Ellis and Bernard shortly after 1 p.m. today.

It is understood that Mrs. Jensen was walking in the pedestrian crossing with the green light in her favor, when an auto swerved around the corner in front of Louis Super Drugs. She was rushed to Kelowna General Hospital by the local ambulance. Name of the driver was not available at press time.

Speaking on behalf of council Ald. R. D. Knox said the city would there would be no run-off for excess water after the low-lying be glad to use the extra space. It would give the old dump a rest, he said, but the public would have to be educated to bring garbage to the new site.

"Sanitary fill is the only logical way of filling this slough," Mr. Knox remarked. He emphasized the two dumps would not be operated at the same time.

CITY SUPPLY BULLDOZER

Health inspector Dr. D. A. Clarke agreed with the proposed type of fill. However, he said refuse and household garbage must be covered as it is dumped, to prevent breeding of flies and mosquitoes.

"In my opinion," said Dr. Clarke, "The city should be obligated to supply a bulldozer for covering the refuse, as the project benefits the city as much as the persons in the locality."

Ald. E. R. Winter said the city has no money in the budget for purchasing a tractor, and intimated that if it would be a costly undertaking the matter would be dropped.

JOHN NIAGARA Talks about:

LOWER RATES ON

Niagara Loans

You might think that rates on loans are exactly the same from company to company. This is an idea that could cost you money, for Niagara Finance has a rate structure that is lower in many cases, and here's the reason why. It's a matter of policy with Niagara to believe that it is no more trouble to make a loan of say, $750 than it is $100.00 . . . and, if the rate of charge was exactly the same on both loans we'd obviously make more money on a $750.00 loan. So we work on the idea that on loans for larger amounts the rate should run "downhill", while at the same time rates on smaller amounts are standard. Besides that, we think you'll like our idea of having loans to $1500 life-insured at no extra cost to you. That's the sort of protection that a family man can appreciate. Come in and see if you need money; we'd like to meet you.

Fulton says Canada should offer asylum to Hungarians

F. D. Fulton, Progressive-Conservative member of parliament for Kamloops, said that Canada should offer "immediate and unrestricted asylum" to refugees forced to flee from Hungary because of Soviet aggression.

"We are all in full accord with the resolution of the United Nations Assembly condemning this latest act of butchery on the part of the Soviet. But it is essential that the free nations do something to prove to those who risk their lives for freedom that their efforts are supported by more than the passing of a resolution."

"I believe," said Mr. Fulton, "that Canada should offer immediate and unrestricted asylum to all those Hungarians whose efforts in the cause of liberty now force them to flee as homeless refugees. They were in fact fighting our battle too."

IRON YOKE

"There is little enough we can do to assist by direct intervention, and the task of those trying to liberate their countries from the iron yoke of Communism must be almost beyond bearing when they see how remote are the prospects of immediate help."

"The least we can do, therefore, to keep the spark of freedom burning is to give the help where we can—particularly help such as this which involves only an act of generosity."

"Such an offer of immediate asylum by Canada, would, I believe, spur the other free nations to similar action. It would help keep alive the spark of freedom in the

B-r-r-r! remember last Remembrance Day?

"B-r-r-r! Remember last Remembrance Day?" Members of the Canadian Legion pipe band certainly won't forget the way the wind whistled up those kilts on the "day that winter started." That snow lying on the ground fell the night before, and the temperature dropped to zero, with a howling wind. Cars on the ferry were covered with flying spray which froze so hard doors were jammed shut.

Above, foreground, drummer Doug Johnson bravely keeps up the beat, even though his drum sticks are shivering in time to the music.

Gyro officers
are installed

PENTICTON — Clyde Nichol of Port Alberni, governor of District No. 4 Gyros, officially installed the new officers on Penticton's Gyro Club.

Comprising the slate of officers for 1957 are president Jim Beason; vice-president Dr. Hugo Emanuele; directors: Dave McFarland, Tommy Stevenson, John Lawson, Bob McLachlan, secretary W. R. "Red" Carruthers, treasurer Jack Duns; past president Fred Kay.

Ald. E. A. Titchmarsh gave the address of welcome on behalf of the mayor who was at the coast.

Committee will investigate
disposing of Westbank hall

WESTBANK — The annual general meeting of the Westbank Community Club was held on Thursday evening. In his review of the affairs of the club, the president, John Paynter, commented on the marked decline in the rentals of the hall. This, he said, was in large part due to the growing tendency of local organizations to avoid hiring the hall even for many occasions for which it had formerly been customary to do so. Some had made permanent arrangements for other meeting places.

The community, he said required a public meeting place of some kind. The hall met this need. It was true that it lacked certain necessary improvements, but it was the endeavor of every executive to remedy the problem to the best of its ability. In the past year substantial repairs had been effected, though more are required. These repairs had amounted to $701.00, and the club had borrowed $500 to defray the cost. There had been an excellent response to the membership drive last year, but income from this source and from rentals at the same rate as during the period under review would not alone suffice to meet operating expenses and at the same time permit improvements to be carried out. In closing, he commended the "18 to 80" Club for donating $92.52 last July to the Community Club.

OPERATING SURPLUS

The secretary's report showed an operating surplus for the year of $14.02. Of the total expenditure for repairs, $140 had been included as expense for the year and the balance deferred. Current liabilities had been met and an installment of $100 paid on the loan.

In view of the unavoidable absence of several members of the executive, the election of a new board was left over to another meeting to be called within the next few weeks.

After a somewhat protracted discussion on the advisability of disposing of the hall, it was decided that enquiry be made from various district organizations to ascertain whether any of them would be interested in acquiring the hall and on what terms.

The following were appointed to represent the club on the local centennial committee to be organized this month: W. MacLachlan, R. E. Springer, W. MacLachlan.

Complete plans
at Rutland

RUTLAND — Arrangements have been completed for the Rutland Remembrance Day ceremony on November 11. The speaker will be Arthur Dave of Okanagan Mission. The Canadian Legion Pipe Band will be in attendance. A possible new addition to the service may be the presence of the Parbinder group of the 7th Day Adventist Church.

The bear that came once too often

One bear that came once too often to steal honey is this 450-pound monster shot by beekeeper Edwin Byers of Queensboro, Ont. Byers had lost 20 winter bee colonies to Mr. Bruin, so he sat in a packing case for seven hours with a 12-gauge, double-barrelled shotgun at his side waiting for the bear to appear again. When the marauder did show up, Byers did not miss. It is the seventh bear he has shot in the past three years.

The price of our progress

On Sunday, as on each Remembrance Day, we will gather to honor our fallen in two great wars, to reiterate our faith that their sacrifice was not in vain, that they did not give their lives in a senseless, useless cause. The late Henry L. Stimson, former U.S. secretary of war, was profoundly convinced that there was a pattern and meaning to their sacrifice and in his final testament he set forth a statement of his faith that gives new meaning to Remembrance Day and new courage for our critical times.

Mr. Stimson wrote:

"Neither a man nor a nation can live in the past. We can go only once along a given path of time, and we can only face in one direction, forward . . .

"It is true that in the last forty years the people and nations of the world have made many terrible mistakes; it is a sad thing that more than half of such a book as this should have to be devoted to the problem of war-making.

"Yet even so, it is well also to reflect how much worse the state of mankind would be if the victorious peoples in each of the two world wars had not been willing to undergo the sacrifices which were the price of victory.

"I have always believed that the long view of man's history will show that his destiny on earth is progress toward the good life, even though that progress is based on sacrifices and sufferings which taken by themselves seem to constitute a hideous melange of evils.

"This is an act of faith. We must not let ourselves be engulfed in the passing waves which obscure the current of progress. The sinfulness and weakness of man are evident to anyone who lives in the active world.

"But men are also good and great, kind and wise. Honor begets honor; trust begets trust; faith begets faith; and hope is the main-spring of life.

"I have lived with the reality of war, and I have praised soldiers; but the hope of honorable, faithful peace is a greater thing and I have lived with that, too.

"That a man must live with both together is inherent in the nature of our present stormy stage of human progress, but it has also many times been the nature of progress in the past, and it is not reason for despair."

Allies position legally sound

The past week on the international scene has been one of confusion and tension. The man on the street has been completely confused in his thinking and emotionally torn two ways. The intervention by Britain and France into the Egyptian-Israel war was, of course, regrettable, in the sense that all use of military force is regrettable, nevertheless, hasty condemnation of the two powers, as occurred in Washington, was unjustifiable.

When Britain pulled out of the Suez Canal zone, there was an agreement between London and Cairo which says in part: "In the event of an armed attack by an outside power on any country which . . . is a party to the treaty of joint defence between the Arab League states . . . Egypt shall afford to the United Kingdom such facilities as may be necessary to place the (Suez) base on a war footing and to operate it effectively."

This arrangement which is clause 4 of the Anglo-Egyptian agreement of October 19, 1954, clearly applies to the present situation. Egypt is a party of the Arab League defence treaty. Egypt was attacked by a power outside the League, Israel. Therefore Britain had a clear right to re-occupy the Suez base.

A second treaty is relevant. This is the tripartite agreement between the U.S., Britain and France. Dated May, 1951, it pledged the signing powers to "immediately take action both within and outside the United Nations" if any state in the Middle East was threatened by a violation of armistice lines, meaning the lines fixed after the cessation of the Arab-Jewish hostilities seven years ago. Clearly this line was violated when Israel invaded Egypt. Britain and France by taking action fulfilled their treaty obligations. The U.S. did not.

The legality of the action of Britain and France cannot be questioned; the wisdom of it may be. Nevertheless it will become the United States to be critical of their action. It was the U.S. which forced the British out of Palestine in order that a Jewish state might be established there. It was the U.S. which forced the British out of Suez and it was the U.S. which, by its sudden reversal of policy on the Aswan dam, gave Nasser his excuse for seizing the canal. The U.S. bears a heavy responsibility for the melancholy state of affairs in the Middle East. That country's policy has been a long story of indecision, ineptitude and failure to grasp the realities.

The British and French long before they started the occupation move, made it quite clear that they were moving in to protect the canal and to prevent a major conflict developing. They also made it quite clear that as soon as the United Nations was in a position to perform these tasks itself, they would withdraw their forces. The weekend decision of the U.N. to form a police force for this purpose would seem to be the eventual answer.

However, history, we think, will record that the British and French, in taking the action they did, performed a service for mankind in preventing another major war.

Hunting can be safe

Shoot first and ask questions later!

This adage may have had its place in bygone days when the safety of the community depended on immediate and effective action against prowlers. It has no application today and especially not by hunters.

Hunting is one of Canada's largest participant outdoor sports. Hundreds of thousands of men and women from every walk of life enjoy healthful recreation from the days afield on the annual hunt. For some of them this pastime will be spoiled by the irresponsible gun-toter who will do such things as fire "sound shots".

"Sound shots" are those fired at sounds made by some unidentified person or animal moving in the woods. It seems incredible that anyone would be so careless or show such absolute disregard for human life as to shoot at something he cannot even see, let alone recognize. Yet it happens every fall and, sometimes, with fatal results.

It has been said that you cannot legislate brains into anyone. But sportsmen can, by example and a word of caution to their fellow hunters, eliminate the few who would give this great sport an undeserved bad name.

PATH TO PEACE

Universal peace can never come between nations which cannot trust one another, nations which try to outdo one another, unless it be for peaceful purposes and with that in mind always.

PLEASANT BREAK

A few days of warm Indian Summer when the leaves are at the peak of color is without a doubt the most beautiful season of the year. It is as if Nature had planned it that way.

Iroquois re-inter ancestors' bones

Bones of their ancestors were unearthed from an early Iroquois burial ground by present-day Indians who gathered the remains and interred them in a common burial plot at Tabor's Hill, Scarborough, Ont. The re-burial was done to the accompaniment of prayers chanted in the Iroquois dialects by Onondagas, Cayugas, Mohawks, Oneidas, Tuscaroras and Senecas who gathered from Ontario, Quebec and New York state for the ceremony. The bones were uncovered when a bulldozer was clearing land for a building site, and it is believed they are the remains of a group that fell in battle three centuries ago.

Letters to the editor

FIRE ON PORCH
The Editor,
The Kelowna Courier
Dear Sir:

With reference to the sentiments and suggestions given in Mr. Collett's letter which appeared in the Courier November 5, in regard to Halloween damage, I would like to add my observations as to what happened at our home on "Hallow Eve".

A fire was lit by some pranksters on our front porch, and upon hearing some noise, I went to the door expecting to give some candies and peanuts to some children only to see a package on fire on the porch. I immediately picked up the package with my bare hands and threw it on the lawn, thereby, avoiding some damage to the porch. By that time nobody was in sight.

Again during the same evening, upon being called to the door, I pointed an air gun at me and pulled the trigger. There was no shot in the gun. However, such acts should not be condoned as they might easily lead to unlawful acts and serious consequences if allowed to continue on the part of any young person.

Most persons do not object to innocent fun by the kiddies, but they do object to vandalism and destructive action.

Thanking you in anticipation.

A KELOWNA RESIDENT

BLOOD DONOR CLINIC

The Editor,
Kelowna Courier
Dear Sir:

On behalf of the Kelowna Branch of the Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic, I would like to thank you for the publicity you so generously gave us. We feel this was a great help in drawing to the attention of donors, the ever-present need of blood.

Thank you so much.

Yours sincerely,
ANNE FITZ-GERALD

HALLOWEEN DAMAGE

The Editor,
Kelowna Courier
Dear Sir:

In reply to Mr. Collett's letter regarding Halloween night. Ask him to recall his own experiences on that night of nights. His recollections, I dare say, would be of a night of revelry and pranks—not vandalism. Where, along the years, did this change occur?

It am sure the answer does not lie in our government, for efficient as it is, it cannot raise our children for us.

No, it lies in the hands of each and every parent.

Hallowe'en is exclusively the children's night, almost the only one of the entire year, and we try to take it away from them. How many parents, however, took the time to educate their children on the real meaning and reason for Hallowe'en, and then planned a night accordingly? How many parents really knew (or cared about) the whereabouts of their children that night?

Oh, outwardly we are marvelous parents. Look at the expensive clothing we buy the children, toys, bicycles, almost everything their little hearts desire to keep them from under our feet. It is there we fail them. In our own selfishness, we give them too little of ourselves.

So let us as parents, individual, and through our many organizations, make next Hallowe'en a night our youth will long remember, not vice-versa.

Yours truly,
MARY GREGORY

Old locomotive is up for sale

OTTAWA (CP)—The E. B. Eddy Lumber Company has a railway locomotive for sale, but not to the junk man.

Purchasing agent Gordon Glass says he recently refused an Ottawa salvage firm's offer to buy the 30-year-old engine. He says he will sell it only to someone who promises to use it as a locomotive.

The engine, manufactured by Montreal Locomotive Works in 1920 was used at lumber yards in Ottawa's west end for years until after the Second World War, when it was moved to the company yards in Hull Que. It was first offered for sale a year ago, then put back to work when no taker appeared.

Mr. Glass, whose sales slogan is "you can buy a locomotive for the price of a good used car," said a Toronto contractor once showed some interest but did not purchase.

FIGURE FANCIES

COCHRANE, Ont. (CP)—The town's assessment rolls show a population of 3,816 this year while the preliminary federal census count showed 3,600, only 109 more than the last census in 1951. The federal bureau will be asked what happened to the other 216.

NOT A PEACEFUL MOMENT

The Victoria merry-go-round

By JAMES K. NESBITT

VICTORIA — It doesn't seem possible, but down here in this capital, the merry-go-round is about to start again. The Legislature, Premier Bennett has announced, is opening its doors on Thursday, February 7.

For some reason no one has ever understood, if there ever was any understanding to it, legislative openings for years and years have been on Tuesdays.

Mr. Bennett is changing to Thursday next time because, he says, he wants to be kind to the opposition, there being so few oppositionists left, he says, with a happy smile of political victory.

Always, the day after the opening, with all its fuss and feathers, come two speeches—from the mover and seconder of the Address in Reply to the speech from the Throne.

Now, this is all somewhat complicated, but nonetheless quite fascinating, all part of the propriety of legislative session—which is, after all, the very essence of democracy.

The speech from the Throne is supposed to outline government legislation for the session. Mostly however, a speech from the Throne is more noted for what it doesn't say than for what it does. However, to be fair, under Mr. Bennett's regime, the speech has contained more news than it contained in days gone by.

The mover and seconder of the Address in Reply are, of course, always government supporters, usually backbenchers, though there's nothing to stop the Premier choosing a cabinet minister, and it

New radar beacon helps in search on land or water

MONMOUTH (CP)—A device known as SARAH is coming to join the RCMP's search teams and communications center at Nanaimo, B.C. SARAH is a well-known addition. It means search and rescue and homing.

It's a type of radar beacon to speed up searches for downed flyers. The tiny unit, four inches long, an antenna, a battery, and a transmitter, is strapped to the victim of a forced-landing or crash.

Its "beams" are picked up on a radar screen in the search craft. The tiny unit, four inches long, an antenna, a battery, and a transmitter, is strapped to the victim of a forced-landing or crash.

Search aircraft flying at 10,000 feet can scan an area 50 miles on each side of the plane's course for the beacon signal.

Persons lost in the northern wilds or downed at sea need only pull a string to start the transmitter operating. The batteries will transmit steadily for five days.

A small aerial, 20 inches long, pops out when the string is pulled. A microphone is attached for communication with the search aircraft when they are sighted over the downed plane or life raft.

The unit, which costs about $160, will be installed in all RCMP search and rescue craft in the next three months. But pilots, civilian transport planes in northern flying and company planes are also expected to install the units.

Premier Duplessis avoids demonstrating students

Students fired toy cannon, shouted and tossed tomatoes, eggs and oranges at the Quebec legislative buildings in a demonstration of displeasure over Premier Duplessis' stand on the federal aid to universities. Police were lined around the buildings and had tear gas in readiness but the 1,000 assembled students did not attempt to rush the buildings. Premier Duplessis at first was believed ready to talk with student representatives but this was later denied.

B.C. milk board offering service to dairyman says chairman E. C. Carr

"The B.C. Milk Board is a government service, available to you—if you want it."

Those were the words of E. C. Carr, chairman of the board, speaking at a meeting of about 75 interested producers and distributors of the Okanagan dairy industry in Vernon last week.

Though nothing concrete came out of the informal meeting it appeared that the farmers do want the Milk Board, judging by the questions asked and the interest shown. Mr. Carr promised to find out from the Department of Agriculture just what procedure should be followed if this area does decide to adopt Milk Board regulations.

Should the offer be accepted it would mean controlled marketing and the "equalization" plan now in operation on the Lower Mainland and Vancouver Island would be instituted here.

"Equalization" means all producers receive proportionate shares on the fluid market.

The Milk Board regulates only the fluid market. To be eligible as a fluid shipper under provisions of the new Milk Industry Act through which the Milk Board operates, producers would have to observe stringent regulations as to barn grading—sanitation and management—ad quality of milk produced.

CLYNE REPORT

Only the third section of the Act which deals with marketing was under discussion at the meeting as the other regulations for control and quality are already in effect throughout the Province as a direct result of the Clyne report on the dairy industry.

Sitting with Mr. Carr at the meeting were the other members of the Board, George Challenger of Chilliwack and Dr. Anderson, of the UBC Economics department. Also speaking were George Johnston, dairy inspector for the Department of Agriculture, Kelowna, and Dr. J. Mustard, veterinary inspector of the livestock branch.

The speakers outlined aspects of the Milk Board regulations and also some history of the B.C. dairy industry which led up to the Clyne inquiry and the resultant new Milk Industry Act.

One producer, who seemed to be speaking for the assembly said the feeling was that cheese milk, normally intended for the manufacturing market is finding its way into the fluid trade here when there is a shortage. This was clarified by Mr. Johnston who said this was causing "unfair trade practices."

The question was also asked: "If we accept milk board regulations have we any assurance we will get more for our milk?" Mr. Carr said that would be difficult to answer. "It would depend on utilization."

PRICE CONTROL

First and foremost recommendation to come out of the Clyne report, Dr. Anderson outlined, was "equalization" whereby all producers receive an equal share of the fluid market. Price control to producer is maintained but price control at the consumer level is done away with. The price to the producer is controlled by a "formula" which operates on the law of supply and demand which is in turn regulated by these factors: producers' costs, pricing at the consumer level and the purchasing power of the consumer.

"It works like a thermostat," said Dr. Anderson. "When the amount of milk on the fluid market exceeds 52 percent on the 12 month average the price automatically increases 20 cents to what the other part of the formula shows. If it exceeds 53 percent we add another 10 cents, 54 percent it adds another 10 cents, 55 percent it adds another 10 cents. Conversely Dr. Anderson said if there is less than 45 percent milk on the fluid market the price drops 20 cents in the "neutral zone" of 45 to 42 percent. Below 42 percent it drops a further 10 cents."

MINIMUM STANDARDS

To become a qualified shipper under the Milk Board, certain minimum standards are set up. Mr. Carr said "Equalization starts on the farm. A farm grading program is now in full swing in the Fraser Valley."

Dr. Mustard said the regulations aren't as bad as they sound. Part one under the Act comes under the Livestock branch, or, as he put it, "control from the cow to the farm gate." All shippers are equalized as should have one producer who keeps his place clean and another producer who is sloppy and yet still gets the same price for his milk.

Mr. Carr explained the quota system in reply to a question from the floor. Quotas are given for the period September to December each year, based on the volume of milk produced in the period divided by the days shipped. Quotas become effective March 1 each year. Quotas vary as the production and days of shipment vary.

"If the quotas go down do sales go down?" someone asked. "The price remains the same," Mr. Carr said. "Price depends on the utilization of total quotas on which class prices are paid."

Mr. Challenger explained that the new quota system is on a market wide basis which was formerly only applied to fluid.

Someone wanted to know what assurance if any is given that unclassified milk goes into the manufactured market?

"I'd classify that as a contentious point," said Mr. Johnston. "If we find a case where milk is going to the wrong channels, we would implement regulations."

BUY ON QUOTA

Can a man buy a quota? What happens to a quota if a man sells his cows to someone in Alberta? If a man goes down on his quota can he buy milk from another farmer to fill his quota?

To the first two questions the chairman replied that a man may buy a quota if he purchases the entire herd. If a herd is sold outside the province the quota disappears. The blend price is raised for the remaining quota holders.

"I won't say the practice isn't going on," Mr. Carr replied to the third query, "but it is contrary to regulations."

Retail prices are established by the dairy. Milk, ice cream and cottage cheese must "stand on their own feet." If a dairy makes a profit on butter it can't be applied to milk.

The only cost to the producer for B.C. Milk Board service is $1. The government absorbs the whole cost of operation.

Dr. Anderson said the normal procedure for any area wishing jurisdiction of the Milk Board is first to make sure the jurisdiction is wanted; then apply to the board, then make formal application to the Minister of Agriculture for "Order-in-council."

Mr. Carr explained that the government must make final decision. In reply to a question as to who would be allowed to vote on accepting Milk Board regulations, Mr. Carr said it would be by ballot to qualified shippers.

He said that if the Milk Board comes in to control marketing it would be mandatory for the other regulations to be carried out. "They should be carried out anyway," he added.

PRODUCE STATEMENTS
The board employs a full time chartered accountant. All vendors must produce profit and loss statements which are checked. All receipts must be accounted for by the producer and all milk utilized must be accounted for.

The board has no control over pick-up. Prices quoted are for milk delivered to the plant. The basic price as now set forth is $4.74 per hundredweight, based on a study of average prices from 1919 until 1953. This price, however, could vary in different areas due to climatic conditions and so forth.

"I'm sure before we did anything up here," one spokesman said, "we would have to have new licenses. I'm sure no one knows who's a qualified shipper and who isn't. We haven't had an inspector for a long time."

"Well, if you want that part of the Act enforced," said the chairman "you should write the minister and ask for the enforcement."

He said the milk price formula might not work in this area as it does in the Fraser Valley but that whatever formula was used it would be based on the Clyne recommendations. Prices here would have to be worked out according to conditions of this market.

Wider teaching seen as answer to delinquency

MONTREAL (CP)—A group of Montreal teachers and welfare workers believe juvenile delinquents can be rehabilitated through extra teaching and social welfare training.

This belief has led to formation of a unique training course, from which the first 19 students recently graduated. Having completed two years study at the University of Montreal, the graduates now start the job of teaching youthful delinquents and emotionally-disturbed children in Quebec institutions to lead lives as normal and as well-adjusted as possible.

The university course, along with an affiliated training program at the Montreal Centre d'Orientation, 72 youths.

At the Accueil des Jeunes observation centre, about 30 adolescents, 12 to 17 years old, have been taken into the program "The Centre d'Orientation itself has a small residence where 16 boys have been receiving care and education suited to their temperaments.

Directed by a half-dozen psychologists and welfare workers, both lay and clerical, the University of Montreal course attempts to give students both practical and scientific ideas for re-educating the maladjusted. The first year is devoted to courses alone. In the second, trainees "live in" with young offenders to gain practical experience in understanding them.

CHANGING TIMES

GRAND FALLS, Nfld. (CP)—Founder-president J. J. Thompson of the Newfoundland Lumbermen's Association told the group's 16th annual convention: "Wages for woodsmen have increased 300 per cent and their living conditions while at work have improved 500 per cent" since 1936.

POWER PLANT

JONQUIERE, Que. (CP)—Mayor Henri Vallancourt outlined plans to provide this Lake St. John district newspaper centre with its own power plant. He said the project on the Picauba River would cost the municipality $8,665,000 and would produce 50,000 horsepower.

Preparing for a lifetime of progress

He has the urge to be where "big things" are going on... so he is studying engineering

Engineers and scientists hold the key to our nation's growth

Wherever you go in Canada today you can see the work of the professional engineer—a constant adventure in progress. You can see it where the jets cleave the skies... where the courses of rivers are changed to harness power... where microwave towers provide long-distance television hook-ups... where express highways speed up traffic and the skylines of cities are rapidly altered... where giant pipe lines cross the mountains and plains. The engineer's vision, initiative and orderly thinking are vital to progress in this swift-moving technological age.

When you flip a switch at home an amazingly intricate system of power equipment goes to work for you. Electricity cannot be made and stored—it is made and delivered instantly at the speed of light. In effect, you reach back from your switch through wires, meters, transformers, substations, switchgear, generators, turbines—right to the very source of power. This incredible process... safe, reliable and low-priced... has been made possible through the skills of professional engineers.

As Canada grows, the demand for engineers steadily increases. Less than 20 years ago only about one in 700 workers was a graduate engineer... today there is 1 to every 150 workers. At Canadian General Electric we employ nearly 1,000 engineers—approximately one to every 20 employees—and more are constantly needed to keep pace with the increasing demand for equipment to generate and transmit electric power and the many products which put it to work.

For over 50 years this Company has conducted a training programme for engineering graduates. In our plants, they acquire an intimate knowledge of the theoretical and practical principles of manufacture, design and installation. Known as the "Test Course" it has provided important postgraduate training for many of today's professional engineers in various fields of Canadian industry.

The future holds many engineering opportunities in Canada, where people are so electrically minded that the demand for power doubles every 10 years!

Right now engineers are busy on products, projects and in industries that didn't even exist a few years ago, when many electrical developments, such as television, were practically unknown.

Canada's first atomic electric power plant is opening new horizons in the generation of electricity, and the many complex problems involved present one of the greatest engineering challenges of our time. Canadian General Electric is building this plant at Desjardins, near Chalk River, for Atomic Energy of Canada Limited and Ontario Hydro. This is just one of many great projects that exemplify the major role being played by professional engineers... key men in our nation's progress.

FIRST UNITED PLANS BAZAAR NOVEMBER 17

Mrs. Ken Garland, president of the Women's Federation of First United Church, will open the annual bazaar to be held Sunday, November 17, at First United Church Hall from 2:00 to 5:30 p.m. Mrs. M. J. Tait, general convenor, is assisted in conducting by Mrs. E. Mason and Miss E. Miller.

Featured will be booths of aprons, children's and adults' wear, knitted goods, pillow-cases, dolls and doll clothes, novelties and fancy work, candy and home-cooking, produce, as well as a white elephant booth in charge of Explorer Group.

Gift girls will be in charge of a special section for the little ones, who will be entertained by movies, fish pond and ice cream; so mothers are urged to bring the wee 'uns along.

Tea will be served, and those attending will find something to interest everyone.

Westbank

On Halloween night, members of the Junior Red Cross joined the "trick-or-treat" crowd. Instead of the usual handout of candies, their takings for the evening, a collection for the International Children's Emergency Fund, amounted to $23 in cash, which goes to the ICEF branch of the United Nations, by whom it will be used for the needs of under-privileged children.

Mrs. Daisy Hardwick is spending a week's holiday with Mrs. Frank Stanforth in Kelowna.

In hospital are Mrs. Thornber, Mr. W. H. Broadhead, and Mr. Robert Johnson.

British play, "Dial M for Murder" will be presented by KLT Dec. 4-6

A British suspense play—one of the imports for which the British Isles is most famous, will be presented by Kelowna Little Theatre at the Empress Theatre, December 4, 5 and 6 at 8:15 p.m.

This is "Dial M for Murder", by Frederick Knott, which thrilled connoisseurs of the more cerebral type of melodrama for full year runs in London, Paris and Rome, and for 69 weeks in New York. The play also won high favor under such varying titles as, "Dial Zero for Police", or "The Perfect Crime", in such other world capitals as Berlin, Madrid, Buenos Aires, Amsterdam, Istanbul and Stockholm. It was also made into a very successful film.

Bill Miller, Jean Chapman and Tom McLaughlin will be seen in exciting roles. Mr. Miller will play Tony Wendice, a sly personable fellow who had been an internationally famous tennis star, and who had married a sweet and very nice girl, played by Jean Chapman, for her money after his speed began to diminish on the tennis courts.

He doesn't mind losing his wife's love, but he is distinctly unwilling to lose her wealth. To insure continuing his comfortable standard of living without having to earn it, he plans what he thinks will be a perfect crime—her murder. Even when his brilliant plan accidentally fails to come off he almost manages to ensnare his victim by means of a hastily-improvised new strategy.

PLANTS EVIDENCE
His original plan is to force a scoundrelly old croup, played by Ray Davis, by means of blackmail, to undertake to strangle his wife while he arranges a perfect alibi for himself. But the lady inadvertently kills the would-be slayer in the scuffle. This is disastrously unexpected; but the diabolically clever ex-athlete promptly comes up with an alternate scheme.

In the few minutes before the police arrive he plants enough evidence to have his wife convicted of murder and sentenced to hang. He makes one mistake, however, which is eventually pointed upon by one of these urban police inspectors who may possibly exist only in Scotland Yard, but most certainly and delightfully abound in British fiction. Ron Irwin plays the part of the police inspector who is as much at home in a fashionable drawing-room as in police headquarters.

"Dial M for Murder" is not a mystery melodrama, for the full intent of the villain's designs is known to the audience at all times. But though the audience knows who the criminal is, the suspense over whether or not he will avoid detection has kept audiences all over the world spell-bound—in any language.

CRITIC'S OPINION
Of this play, critic Walter F. Kerr, of the N.Y. Herald-Tribune says: "One of those happy cat-and-mouse melodramas which establishes a wonderfully innocent belief in its macabre and completed goings-on. No matter how many times the lights go on and off, no matter how many hollow footsteps are heard to pound along the hallway, no matter how many garden windows are bashed in, the play's sleek surface of credulity never cracks."

"Mr. Knott, (the author) deserves credit for the saving grace of lightness. Though his piece is thick with suspicion, counter-suspicion and deviousness carried to the nineteenth power, and though he engages in a few unlikely dodges, he has a very nice sense of the relieving values of laughter. A radio broadcast which brings us the dose of information that a woman is to be hanged for a murder she did not commit is immediately balanced by an ironically cheery weather report. The solution to an ingeniously complicated crime is inadvertently stumbled on by a television writer who has written so many mystery scenarios that he knows all the possible plots."

"All in all, 'Dial M for Murder' is the kind of show which sets its audience to whispering 'will he find the letter?' in urgent tones, and earnestly thumbing their programs to make sure exactly how much time has elapsed since the preceding scene. It's a holiday for the whodunit fans, and as such it couldn't be more welcome."

"Mr. Knott's proposition is that murder can be fun, and he proves his point delightfully. . . . In the modern manner, this is a melodrama that is not designed to inspire terror, but the passionate interest of the keen sportsman. You do not really care whether the lovely young lady is foully slain; you care only about the daring, and the fascinating detail, of the plan to slay her."

"You aren't concerned whether or not the callous cad who engineers the deed, is going to be caught out and carted off to justice. You care only that the best mind wins—that the wit with which the scoundrel evades detection, and the williness with which a Scotland Yard inspector sneaks up on his prey, be evenly matched. The perfection of the puzzle and the sheer agility of a couple of sleek opponents, provide the special exhilaration of 'Dial M'. The game is a good one—fast, light and full of surprises." Another member of the cast is Alan Abercrombie.

Shown above are three of the models appearing last week in "Fashions and Follies of Yesteryear" presented by the Social Credit Women's Auxiliary.

At right is auxiliary president Mrs. M. T. Pendleton in a striking net and silk costume a-glitter with sequins. Her ensemble, in black, is topped with a once-fashionable Merry Widow hat lavishly adorned with ostrich plumes.

Seated beside Mrs. Pendleton is Mrs. E. Pearce who models the days when bonnets, Persian lamb muffs and handsome black costumes were the height of fashion. In the foreground Mrs. Grace Beck carries a lighted candle, as, clad in a typical nightie of the period of 75 years ago, every stitch of which was hand-done, she prepares to face the dark, and probably chilly stairway, on her way to her bedroom.

Cook's corner

If you have just bought a new home freezer or rented a locker did you know that you may prepare a now and pack it away until the big day? Not only that, but you can avoid a last minute baking rush by making cookies, tarts, pies and rolls and freezing them, and it won't be long until you can do the same with most of the frozen food items that you have on hand.

If you haven't planned your Christmas menu yet, these suggestions may start you working at it. To begin the meal how about a frosty fruit pie served with cheese sticks, or perhaps your family would prefer soup with crisp croissants. These foods may be made and frozen now, all ready except for thawing or heating.

It is possible to roast a stuffed turkey, then remove the stuffing and freeze it and the meat separately—but you will be much happier with the results if the turkey is freshly cooked on Christmas day. If you like, you may get the bread crumbs all ready for the stuffing and freeze them in a large plastic bag. No doubt you have some garden-fresh frozen peas or green beans in your freezer or locker. You can serve these along with freshly cooked potatoes and turnips or whatever vegetables are traditionally served for Christmas dinner in your home.

No turkey dinner is really complete without cranberry sauce or cranberry relish and since both of these freeze very well, you can make enough now to see you through the holiday season.

Homemade rolls are a welcome treat anytime and for Christmas fancy shaped ones would be most attractive. You can make an assortment such as cloverleaf, Parker house, fan or braided rolls. Your family won't know them from freshly baked rolls when they're popped from freezer to oven and heated at Christmas dinner time.

All of the favorite Christmas desserts—plum pudding with hard or brown sugar sauce, mince pie or tarts and, of course, ice cream—can be stored in the freezer. The same FLIES HOME AFTER EXTENDED VISIT . . . Mr. and Mrs. Gaiet Marks, with sons Jay and Tracy, have just returned from Vancouver, where Mr. Marks' mother, Mrs. E. A. Marks, left by plane for her home in New South Wales, Australia, after a four months' visit in Kelowna. During her visit here, her 5-month old grandson, Tracy, was christened at St. Michaels and All Angels' Anglican Church, by the Venerable, D. S. Cutcliffe. Tracy's maternal grandmother, Mrs. W. J. Whittingham, of Toronto and Vancouver, was also present for the ceremony.

From word received from Mrs. Marks on her arrival in Australia, she says she already misses the beautiful scenery of Kelowna and the Okanagan Valley, and particularly the clean, well-kept streets and gardens of Kelowna. Although she has only been back in Australia for a week, Mrs. Marks is already planning her next visit to Kelowna. She states that the next time, she will stay longer so that she may become an ardent hockey fan, as on this visit, she only had the opportunity to see one game.

HONEYMOON HERE . . . Mr. and Mrs. Murray Miller, whose marriage took place in Vermilion, Alta., late last month, spent a part of their honeymoon in Kelowna, where they were guests of the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. May Grozelle, 3042 Tait St. of her son, Murray Grozelle, and her daughter, Mrs. Jackie Grutter. On leaving Kelowna they motored to coast and V.I. points, visiting another aunt at Campbell River before returning to their home at Vermilion.

RECENT VISIT TO COAST . . . Mr. and Mrs. A. Fawcett, 3054 Tait Street, spent a long weekend at the coast recently where they stayed with Mr. and Mrs. A. Anderson at New Westminster and with Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hootie at Ocean Park.

RETURN HOME . . . Mr. and Mrs. Tom Buchanan, Bertram St., have returned home from a ten-day trip that took them to Cloverdale and Hammond.

Westbank couple exchange vows at First United WESTBANK — On November 2 marriage vows were exchanged by Bernice Mary McCaulder and Herbert Arthur Johnson. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. S. Leitch at the First United Church manse in Kelowna.

The bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. McCaulder, and the bridegroom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Godfrey Johnson, all of Westbank.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of white satin with an overskirt of white net. She wore an elbow-length veil and carried a bouquet of red roses.

Bridesmaid for her sister was Kathleen McCaulder, who wore a pretty blue tulle gown with an overskirt of flowered net. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Richard Popp acted as best man. The bride's mother was attired in grey, with red accessories, and the groom's mother wore an attractive brown outfit.

The reception, held in the Westbank Community Hall, was attended by fifty guests. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. A. T. Roth. The bride's table was beautifully decorated with mums, marigolds and candles. Servers were Betty Popp, Joan Ingram, Kathleen Ingram, Ed Wingenter, Jim Popp and Victor Wingenter.

For her going away outfit the bride wore a navy blue suit, with beige accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left for a honeymoon trip down the Western States. On their return they will reside in Westbank.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. B. Johnson and Mrs. A. Hallam, both of Kamloops, Bernice McCaulder and Ernie Harrington, both of Vancouver, and Mr. and Mrs. R. McMath, of Vernon.

Westbank

WESTBANK—Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Black on the arrival of Douglas Avery, a brother for Heather and Murray.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Pickett, of Okanagan, Washington, together with Mr. Pickett's sister, Geraldine, spent a weekend at the home of Mrs. A. Broadhead. Miss Pickett remained over for a full week's visit and was driven on her return home by Miss Helen Gorman.

On returning from spending a week's holiday at Ellis Lodge, Kelowna, Mrs. Chas. Bartley had as guests at her own home for a week Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Hatfield, of Quillem Beach.

After visiting her daughter Edith (Mrs. F. Bergman) in Vancouver for a few days, Mrs. F. Broadhead spent a few more days with her daughter Jean Broadhead, V.O.N., in West Vancouver, and returned on Tuesday.

The George Pringle H.S. Senior Girls soccer team, winners of the championship playoffs for the Central Okanagan, carried off the honors in their tilt at Summerland with the Penitton girls, champions of the southern zone. The score was 1-0, the winning tally being scored by Lois Hardwick, who was carried off the field shoulder high by her jubilant teammates. Westbank now leads the champions from the north end of the valley, the girls from Armstrong. This match will also be played at Summerland.

Mrs. Hughes, of Vancouver, is at present staying with her daughter, Mrs. M. M. Black.

South Kelowna

SOUTH KELLOWNA—Paul Munce is home from the hospital and progressing favorably.

At the annual meeting of quilters held at the South Kelowna School, Nigel C. Taylor was again nominated school representative.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hall have returned home, after accompanying Mrs. W. Guier to Silverton where she is staying with her other daughter, Mrs. Maurice Wright and family.

While her husband and his brother Flynn were away on a successful hunting trip in Christian Valley, Mrs. Robert Cochrane and Ricky spent a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Murrell.

The gift parade

By DOROTHY GELLATLY

Beginning to wonder what you'll give for Christmas? I guess we all are, even if we haven't given it much serious thought. At least I hadn't till I noticed that already the stores are taking on a festive air, with gayly-wrapped packages and displays of gift-suggestions on view. And in case you think they couldn't come out with anything new—well, you'll be surprised at the new practical things as well as with the more novel and glamorous gifts to be found.

Such as the dress in a new material as soft and warm as cider-down, that's washable—and by washable, I mean in your washing machine! The one I saw was in a dark charcoal, and truly it felt as soft as down, and would be lovely for business and afternoon wear. Glitter skirts, first shown at the PNE, are both practical and glamorous in that they can be and are lovely for party wear. Matter of fact, dry cleaning isn't recommended, which leaves no doubt that careful hand washing is the very best course to follow.

COCKTAIL DRESS

Talking of glitter, I saw a Wedgewood blue lame cocktail dress that would catch anyone's eye with its silvery gleam, and it was fashioned so simply and beautifully. Then there were quilted lounging pyjamas with a definitely Chinese influence, in cool gold and white and set off with black trousers. Turquoise with black applique was featured in another set, and for those who prefer a pastel shade, there was an outfit in peach.

Presently I found myself looking at portraits, and learned that these are Christmas specials for those whose sentiments turn in that direction at holiday time. An excellent idea, even if you don't like being photographed! Never forget that after Christmas, when families and friends have departed and only memory remains—the photo of a loved one, or of a family group, becomes a cherished possession, something that is always with you.

For the boys and girls there are the usual mechanical toys and the doll parade where any and all little mothers can find their choice of cuddly babies or dolls in bridal dress and plain, ordinary attire. And of course, they walk and talk, or do their stuff just as real babies do.

Following the modern trend, I saw robot toys run by remote control which doubtless will delight the youngster with a liking for the latest development in science, though to me those soulless creatures still are uncanny. There's a new idea for the days that must be spent indoors—perhaps in bed, drawing with colored rubber bands. The materials can be used over and over to make dozens of pictures, and this new game or pastime seems to promise well for either table or bed play. For baby there's a soft poly play bottle containing the sort of things toddlers love to put in any containers—and as any mother knows, there are lots of times that the wee ones pre-occupied with plain, ordinary kitchen utensils in preference to any toy.

MINIATURE TREES

Even in Christmas decorations there are new ideas—miniature trees whose greenery seem to be made of feathers—silver strands of feet and long for draping over a tree—or I wonder if those strands couldn't be used as back-grounds? Then there are plastic colored balls containing tiny bells that rattle when shaken, as well as the usual array of lights and ornaments for the holiday season.

Of course there are perfumes and colognes, as well as dainty toiletary sets galore, and already I've been shown a brand-new perfume put out by a well-known firm. There are some special Christmas prices on some of these sets, too. Saw a novel bracelet that's going to delight some of the teen-age crowd—a lipstick charm bracelet with no less than five lipsticks in various tints.

For the home, or Dad, there's an unusual affair called a bar caddy, which, taken apart, reveals a 2-measuring jigger, a corkscrew, a bottle opener, an ice-cracker and a mixer. But there'll be some of those under the Christmas trees!

A carving board looks as though it would hold one of those huge, old-fashioned family roasts firmly in place while being carved, and not far from it I saw a set of stainless steel mixing bowls. Also in stainless steel were the attractive scoop-style measuring spoons. Those three-dimensional pictures, of which I've seen quite a number around town, seem to have made quite an appeal, and certainly they are quite attractive with their rustic appearance. Pictures, large and small, and of all sorts, are featured in many stores, and if that's to be your choice for one or more gifts, it seems to me you're going to need time to make that choice!

NIGHT ATTIRE

Lots of you are going to decide on warm sungeadown nightwear for family or friends, or a brushed rayon bedjacket for the lady of leisure, or the sleek-sleek. Saw some flannellette pyjamas for the tall girl, who seems to be coming into her own in so many fashions. For the littler ones to buy are gloves and mitts in Angora wool; novelty dish-towels, patterned house plants—or even the container of bulbs all ready in their planter for growing in the house, with instructions.

Glenmore

GLENMORE—Ralph Pearcey arrived from Fort Smith, NWT for a brief weekend visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Pearcey. He was accompanied from Fort Smith by James Fisher who travelled by car as far as Vancouver, en route to Montreal.

Mrs. Arta Snodgrass and family of High Road, recently moved to Terrace.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Pawcous of Goudie Subdivision moved to Vancouver last weekend. Mr. Pawcous being transferred by his employer. Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Fawcett and family, of Salmon Arm, have taken up residence in the Fawcous house.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Jesse and family last week moved into the Jas. Montherwell house on Pine Crest Lane.

Mrs. E. L. Clement is visiting with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hayes, of No. 31 Bankhead.

Square dancing commences its winter term this Saturday evening in the activity room of the Glenmore School. The junior group from grades 1 to 5 will be able to enjoy themselves from 7:00 till 8:00 p.m. If there is sufficient interest in this form of recreation by the young fry, sessions will be held every other Saturday night. The senior group including teen-agers and adults will start off this Saturday with a moose-eatin' dance at 8:30 p.m. Both square and popular dancing can be enjoyed, concluding with refreshments. All members and prospective members are cordially invited. Soft-soled shoes must be worn by both groups.

The Glenmore Boy Scout Association bottle drive last Saturday was a huge success. About $800.00 was realized and will be put to good use in the furtherance of scouting and cubbing in the community. The group committee is appreciative of the fine response. Special thanks is due to Messrs G. Yamamoto, P. R. Mountray, Jas. Snowsall, and S. Pearcey, who kindly donated the use of trucks to pick up the bottles.

The annual general meeting of the Glenmore Community Club will be held in the activity room of the school on Wednesday, November 14 at 8:00 p.m.

The court of revision for the 1956 municipal voters list will convene at the municipal office on November 15 at 10:00 a.m. The court will consist of Reeve P. R. Mountray, Councillors L. E. Marshall and A. J. Hunter.

South Kelowna school children present Hallowe'en programs

EAST KELOWNA—The "Haunted Schoolhouse" at South Kelowna was the scene of some enjoyable entertainment on Wednesday afternoon, to which parents and friends of the children were invited.

The first half of the program was announced by Sharon Blackovits and named with the play "Jack and the Beanstalk." Jack was played by Jerry Blackovits, mother by Sharon Blackovits, Rocky Seddon was the cow who was sold to a man played by Judy Blackovits for a handful of beans. The giant's cook was played by Myrna McKinley, and the giant acted by Gordon Murrell.

All the children took part in four Hallowe'en songs, and a dance followed by a play called "Hallowe'en Fun" read by Sandra Brant. The would-be pranksters, Wee, Cee and Dee were acted by Gail Blackovits, Marsha Koller, and Linda Houston, who were disguised by father, Billy Harasin, but were recognised by their pony (Rodney Houston), puppy (Myrna McKinley), and butter by the goat, acted by Linda Dyck. This concluded the first part of the program, which was put on by the pupils of grades I, II and III trained by their teacher, Mrs. Helen M. Harvie.

Grades IV, V and VII, under the direction of S. L. Janzen offered a play called "The Princess and the Swineherd" with Sandra and Marilyn McKinley in the principle roles. Don Grantham was the king, and Tommy Harasin, Ray Verstine, Alan Nakano, Anna Houston, Julie Francis and Nadine Koller were in supporting parts.

A sprightly Scottish dance by Noelen Hardy and Blanche Beasley, and a "Tall Story of a Turnip" followed, read by David Taylor.

The final offering, which appealed to the audience was a skit "Cat Pie". Two hoboes played by Blake Waters and David Taylor were dining in a cafe and afterwards one of them fell ill. The cafe proprietor (Brian Monchur), sent for the doctor (Allan Hill) who with his helper (Don Grantham) operated on the hobo. Some amusing shadow play followed, culminating in the discovery of the cat.

Gerda Polman was the announcer of the second half of the entertainment. Tea was served by the ladies of the PTA assisted by members of the Junior Red Cross.

Rodney Taylor sold tickets for the guessing game which netted the juniors $3.60.

The regular monthly meeting of the PTA was held on Monday last at the school, with the president, Mrs. Nigel C. Taylor in the chair. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Peter Stirling, minutes were taken by the vice-president, Mrs. T. Beasley, who also gave a report on the recent PTA Council meeting.

After a short meeting Mrs. Helen M. Harvie gave an enlightening talk on "Learning to Read" followed by two films. Refreshments were afterwards served to the thirteen members present.

Civil defence church business Adventists told

"Civil Defense is church business," declared Miss Maybelle Vandemark of Washington, D.C., associate director of the Home and Welfare Services of the general conference of Seventh-day Adventists, speaking at a meeting of the Okanagan-Dorcas Welfare Federation held Sunday at Rutland.

"Christians everywhere must accept the responsibility for meeting human need," she stated, "and through continuous and emergency services, church members have opportunity to demonstrate the real meaning of the Gospel." She referred to the welfare work done by Adventist churches in the States during hurricanes and floods, where truckloads of men, clothing, and food were dispatched promptly to disaster areas, which won high commendation from city officials.

SPEAKING TOUR

Miss Vandemark is also a member of the national women's advisory committee for civil defense in the United States. She is visiting all the provinces of the dominion in the interest of health and welfare services of the Seventh-day Adventist Church. She urged that each person as a church member and citizen should learn how to help himself and others in times of disaster by getting instruction in Red Cross and St. John Ambulance first aid and other civil defense courses. The last two years 19,695 members trained in first aid, 960 instructors, and 116 instructor-trainers.

Mrs. J. B. Wagner of Rutland, president of the federation, was chairman of the meeting, which was attended by delegates from ten Okanagan-Dorcas Welfare Societies. Delegates from Creston and McBride also attended.

Lunch was served in the Okanagan Academy Auditorium.

In the afternoon, a demonstration of speedy clothing sorting was given and pictures on welfare work were shown.

Veteran naval officers here next week on recruit drive

A combined total of 70 years in many ships and in many jobs makes up the experience roster of the Navy's mobile recruiting team now touring British Columbia. The team, specially selected by the RCN to explain the advantages of a Navy career to Canadian youth, will visit the Royal Anne Hotel in Kelowna on November 12 and 13.

Presently in town is Lt. Cdr. F. J. Heatley, area recruiting officer, who is making advance arrangements for the coming visit. He has been in the navy since 1936. Following with the unit are Lt. G. W. Tanner who is a veteran of 26 years; Chief Petty Officer E. W. Clark who has served 20 years, and Leading Seaman E. A. Read, with five. Each person is well qualified to outline fully the potential of a navy career.

Like the other services, the RCN needs a number of alert young men and women to serve in 49 different jobs and trades in Canada's fast-growing naval service. Evidence of the rapid growth is the recent commissioning of "St. Laurent" class destroyer-escorts, reported to be the most advanced anti-submarine vessels in the world. Almost ready to be launched is HMCS Bonaventure, Canada's new aircraft carrier with the most modern equipment yet devised for naval warfare. Already in training to operate from the new carrier are a large number of naval pilots who are flying modern, hard-hitting Banshee jets.

"All of the highly technical and complex electronic and mechanical equipment installed in the new ships and aircraft will provide remarkable trade opportunities for British Columbia youth," Lt. Cdr. Heatley said today.

BCFGA secretary outlines steps taken by executive regarding industry probe

For the past month, a major controversy has been raging throughout the Okanagan fruit-growing area regarding the appointment of a Royal Commission to investigate all phases of the industry. Latest development was the refusal of the B.C. government to appoint a provincial Royal Commission. Request for a federal Royal Commission was turned down several months ago.

Details regarding development are outlined in the following article by Jack MacLennan, secretary-treasurer of the BCFG.

Because of numerous and conflicting developments in recent months, considerable confusion appears to have arisen regarding the demand for a Royal Commission to investigate the fruit industry. I, therefore, have been instructed by the executive of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association, to summarize the information of all growers just what has taken place to date: JANUARY 17, 18, AND 19, 1956

The 6th Annual Convention, B.C. FGA, was held in Vernon and the following resolution adopted:

"Whereas of recent years the net returns of fruit growers have been gradually diminishing, in spite of what we feel is an efficient selling agency.

Whereas the retail price of fruit from this fruit area has not diminished but has risen in many instances.

Therefore be it resolved by this 1956 BCFG Convention that the Federal Government be requested to appoint a Royal Commission for the purpose of having an exhaustive study and enquiry made in all phases of the Canadian tree fruit industry to determine the cause or causes of it being a depressed industry within an expanding and prosperous economy."

FEBRUARY 13, 14 AND 15

At the 34th Annual Meeting, Canadian Horticultural Council, took place in Ottawa and this resolution was presented by A. R. Garrish, the BCFG delegate. It was passed unanimously, after being amended to include the vegetable industry. Following the meeting, representatives of the Canadian Horticultural Council discussed the subject with the Minister of Agriculture, the Right Honourable J. G. Gardiner.

EARLY MARCH

L. F. Burrows, Secretary-Treasurer of the Canadian Horticultural Council made formal presentation of the resolution to Mr. Gardiner.

APRIL 5

Mr. Burrows reported his reply from Mr. Gardiner and quoted the minister as having said: "In view of the fact that fruit production in general is confined to limited areas in Canada, I think it would be more likely to bring helpful results if any Royal Commission which might be appointed were appointed by the provincial government. The problems surrounding the fruit industry in British Columbia are quite different from the fruit problems in Ontario or in Nova Scotia. If a Royal Commission were necessary, I would suggest there probably should be more than one and that the appointment should be made by provincial governments similar to the Royal Commission which was appointed on agricultural matters in the Province of Saskatchewan."

APRIL 11

Commenting on the Minister's reply, Mr. Garrish wrote to Mr. Burrows that while production conditions might vary with the different fruit growing areas, these areas were marketing their products in competition with each other and with imported products. Only a federal royal commission could hope to deal with competition from imports and with the question of some sort of federal price support. He urged the council to continue to press for a federal royal commission with authority to investigate all aspects of production, distribution, marketing and foreign imports.

V. E. Ellison of Oyma, President of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture and British Columbia's representative on the agricultural advisory committee to the federal minister of agriculture, about to attend a meeting of that committee in Ottawa, was asked to take the opportunity the meeting would provide to press for the appointment of a federal royal commission.

MAY 10

In Kelowna, the Executive, BCFG, had an opportunity to discuss a number of fruit industry matters with the Honourable W. E. Kilmerman, then provincial minister of agriculture. With regard to a royal commission he expressed the view, that since many of the problems were national their investigation would require a federal commission.

JUNE 5

In Ottawa a meeting took place with the deputy minister of agriculture, Dr. Taggart. The president and secretary of the Canadian Horticultural Council attended. R. P. Walrod, passing through Ottawa on his way to the Commonwealth Fruit Conference, represented the BCFG. This meeting did nothing to raise the hope of obtaining a federal royal commission but the deputy minister showed a definite interest in a suggestion for a combined federal provincial survey of the economics of market distribution. The executive, however, hoped such a survey would produce sufficient evidence to prove the need for a federal royal commission.

SEPTEMBER 7

In Vancouver, Eric Tait of the executive, BCFG, R. P. Walrod, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., A. I. Turner, vice chairman and manager, agricultural prices support board, Ottawa; E. D. Woodward, economist of the federal department of agriculture and J. Meulen, economist of the provincial department, met to discuss plans for a joint federal-provincial survey. Since that meeting the terms and requirements of the survey have been under consideration by the federal and provincial departments of agriculture.

OCTOBER 9

In Penticton at a combined meeting of the Penticton, Naramata, and Okanagan Falls locals, the following resolution was adopted: "Whereas the premier of British Columbia and the minister of agriculture have offered a provincial Royal Commission on this fruit industry.

Be it resolved that this local immediately contact the central executive of the BCFG to request the provincial government to take steps to immediately institute such a commission to investigate all phases of this industry from producer to consumer with emphasis on marketing and distribution of the crop."

This resolution has been forwarded by Penticton local to other BCFG locals. To date the head office, BCFG, has been advised by letter that in addition to the three locals mentioned above, meetings have been held and the resolution approved by Ellison, Winfield, Okanagan Centre, Glenmore, Rutland, South and East Kelowna and Westbank.

OCTOBER 18

The executive informed the four district councils, BCFG, that if sufficient locals to represent a majority of delegates gave approval to this resolution, the executive, without waiting for the next annual convention would ask for the appointment of a provincial royal commission. This was done to give the district councils, if they wished, a chance to state their objection to a departure from normal BCFG procedure. So far, two district councils have replied. The Northern District Council has objected, the Central has approved.

OCTOBER 25

The executive had an opportunity to meet with the Honourable Ralph Chetwynd, newly appointed minister of agriculture in the provincial government, while on a visit to the Okanagan. One of the subjects dealt with was the question of a provincial royal commission.

OCTOBER 26

Resolutions as approved by the executive at its regular meeting on October 17, for submission to the 23rd annual meeting of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture, to take place November 8th and 9th in Chilliwack, were mailed to the secretary of the federation. One of these resolutions called for the Canadian Federation of Agriculture to support the request for a Federal royal commission.

OCTOBER 31

In Penticton the Honourable James Sinclair, Minister of Fisheries and one of B.C.'s two representatives in the Federal Cabinet discussed fruit industry problems with the President, BCFG.

NOVEMBER 1

As the outcome of the discussions with representatives of the federal and provincial governments, the executive decided to make simultaneous requests to Ottawa and Victoria for the appointment of a combined Federal/Provincial Royal Commission to investigate the fruit industry of British Columbia. On the same day that this application was made, the following letter was received from the Honourable Ralph Chetwynd:

MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA
Victoria, B.C., Oct. 30, 1956

Mr. J. MacLennan,
Secretary-Treasurer,
B.C. Fruit Growers' Ass'n.,
1473 Water St.,
Kelowna, B.C.

Dear Mr. MacLennan:
On my return to Victoria after having met with you in Kelowna, I have discussed one of the two pressing problems with the government, that one being the request from certain quarters that a provincial Royal Commission be granted to enquire into the Okanagan fruit industry.

I can now tell you that it is the government's policy to grant such a request provided that a resolution is sent to the minister of agriculture from the annual convention of your association which I understand meets in January.

It is felt that this is the only proper method in our democratic way of life; the resolution must come as a result of the fruit growers' parliament which meets to discuss their problems at their annual convention.

It is my understanding that at your previous annual convention of a year ago requests were made for a Federal Royal Commission and this request was not granted. This government still believes that a Federal Royal Commission is the correct procedure as such a large proportion of your marketing takes place outside of the boundaries of the province of British Columbia; however, as stated above, if your annual convention requests a provincial Royal Commission the request will be granted.

Yours very truly,
(signed) RALPH CHETWYND

COLD ARRIVAL

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask. (CP) — Norman Haba, a fruit company employee unloading bananas from a freight car, was struck on the hand Meulen, economist of the provincial department, met to discuss plans for a joint federal-provincial survey. Since that meeting the terms and requirements of the survey have been under consideration by the federal and provincial departments of agriculture.

HUGE ELK

CALGARY (CP) — Larry Points shot a 550 pound elk with an antler spread of 60½ inches. Antlers of the elk, bagged in the Kananaskis country 70 miles west of here, had 11 points.

Police court

Oscar Soderlund received a minimum $10 fine for driving without due care and attention. He was involved in a minor mishap at the corner of Harvey and Pender. He said he stopped for the stop sign on Harvey Avenue and was proceeding across the intersection slowly when struck by another car, the yelling on Pender.

Don W. Schmidt received a $15 fine, when he appeared in Kelowna police court on a speeding charge. An RCMP patrol car followed him down the Barker street, entering Kelowna, at 5:35 p.m. The accused slowed to 40 upon entering the 30 zone, and when the constable tried to stop him, he sped up to 50 mph. When he was stopped, he told the officer that his gas pedal was stuck. He was warned by Magistrate Marshall to have it fixed.

A fine of $20 and costs was levied on Theodore Knorr, for exceeding 30 mph on Ellis Street.

Seventy miles per hour travelling north between Bernard and Bay on Ellis Street, cost Earl Robert Murdoch a fine of $25 and costs. Magistrate A. D. Marshall warned him to slow down, as the superintendent of motor vehicles takes a dim view of such situations.

A Penticton firm was fined a total of $30 on two counts of failing to equip a motor vehicle properly. David Melvin Pipe, Ltd., represented by an employee, pleaded guilty to two charges—operating a truck not equipped with a muffler, and operating a vehicle in excess of 80-inches loaded width, without clearance lights. RCMP warned that this is a dangerous practice, as a car with poor lights could easily run into the back of an unlighted truck, if it were parked in the dark.

Samuel Ehrhardt was fined $12 and costs for exceeding a 30 mph speed limit. He was followed in the 30 zone near Five Bridges at 40 mph, and on the Burne road at 47 mph. The accused said he was not aware that he was in a 30 zone.

A one-month licence suspension and a fine of $20 was assessed John Williams Walker for driving without due care and attention on Bernard Avenue. He had been given two previous warnings for speeding.

Bill Dereckson was fined $10 and costs for being intoxicated off a reserve.

A visitor from Indiana was fined $15 and costs for driving without due care and attention. Mary F. Taylor was involved in a slight mishap at the corner of Pender and West Avenue.

For killing a migratory game bird—one white swan, F. Reynolds, was fined $25 and costs in Kelowna police court.

The offence occurred at Glenmore slough on Sunday.

Request new mail route

RUTLAND — A recommendation to the postal inspector that consideration be given to setting up a new rural route, to be known as RR No. 1 Rutland, was approved by the executive of the Rutland Board of Trade recently.

At the present time most of the area is served by RR2 Kelowna. The district has built up to a point where there are almost double the number of mail boxes to serve as there are on any other rural routes in the Kelowna district. The board favored division of the route, and having half of the area now served by RR2 Kelowna served from the Rutland post office. An alternative might be a re-arrangement to take some of RR2 into the new proposed RR1 Rutland, as this route serves the Helgo, Hollywood and Black Mountain sections of Rutland.

Safeway makes this challenge: Compare ALL Prices!

You'll find convincing proof that ALL prices are low at SAFEWAY... not just a few advertised "specials"

We wish that it were possible to list in this ad the price of every item in our stores. Unfortunately, space does not permit. But we have listed many, many times more than you'll find in the average food ad. Why? Because we're so sure that all our prices are right, we challenge comparison with all prices at any other store. Once you've compared, you'll discover that Safeway offers you big savings on your total food bill. Differences may be small item by item, but these small differences soon add up to big savings.

Imperial Bank will soon be opening new branches in three Okanagan cities Imperial Bank of Canada will soon be opening new branches in Kelowna, Penticton and Vernon to widen the service to its customers in B.C.

The local branch office will be located in the building presently being constructed by G. D. Loane, on the north side of Bernard Avenue between Ellis and St. Paul streets. Structure is expected to be completed around the end of the year.

Although this is the first time that branches of Imperial Bank will have been seen in the Okanagan Valley, the bank has never-the-less always been a pioneer in British Columbia.

When Western Canada began to move to the Okanagan Valley who be opened with the completion of a will be pleased to see us. Certainly transcontinental railroad toward the end of the nineteenth century Imperial Bank of Canada had already established a chain of branches as far westward as Vancouver, where a branch was opened in 1853.

Additional branches in British Columbia were added to this chain at Revelstoke in 1897; Nelson in 1898; Golden in 1899 and at Victoria and Cranbrook in 1902. Since that time many other branches have been added, modern new buildings have been erected, and many of the older buildings housing Imperial Bank branches have been improved and enlarged.

Imperial Bank has an even more personal connection with British Columbia than is suggested by the length of its banking service to the province in that three of its present day executives were either born in British Columbia or served the bank there and all of them have their roots deep in the province.

L. S. Mackersy, the chairman and chief executive officer of the bank, although born in Scotland, started his banking career in British Columbia and returned to Nelson after army service in France during World War One.

J. S. Proctor, Imperial Bank's president was born in Vancouver and spent most of his early life in Greenwood and later at Armstrong (where his father was a bank manager). It was in these towns that Mr. Proctor gained a firm understanding of the problems of the farmers and townspeople of the interior, and his own banking career commenced in Victoria with Imperial Bank of Canada.

C. N. Phipps, assistant general manager at the bank's head office in Toronto was born in Victoria and gained all his early experience in the Victoria branch and the main branch of the bank in Vancouver.

In a statement recently when speaking about these new branches in the Okanagan Valley, E. J. Eriksen, Imperial Bank's general manager said, "While Imperial Bank of Canada has been giving banking service in many other areas in British Columbia for more than sixty years, other banks have supplied the banking needs of businessmen and residents in the Okanagan Valley. We have for some time realized the ever increasing importance of the development in the valley and decided to extend our banking service to this area. We appreciate that a branch in any one of the three centres, Penticton, Kelowna, or Vernon would be insufficient to meet the need for additional banking service, so we will open a branch in each of these centres. I am quite sure that there will be many old friends of ours, who were customers at other places but have since

Health board meets Nov. 21 at Summerland

The fourth quarterly meeting of the Union Board of Health—South Okanagan Health Unit, will be held November 21, at 1:30 p.m., in the Summerland municipal hall.

Business on the agenda includes correspondence on pasteurized milk and meat inspection areas; a report on the health committee meeting at this time. We appreciate that a branch in any one of the three centres, Penticton, Kelowna, or Vernon would be insufficient to meet the need for additional banking service, so we will open a branch in each of these centres. I am quite sure that there will be many old friends of ours, who were customers at other places but have since

New business will include discussions on health problems in combined irrigation and domestic water supply, and the control of hand-washing facilities in food establishments in unorganized territory.

Judge pays fine

—Central Press Canadian

Irene Pysanczn went to court, was fined, but came away saying the judge was a very kind man. The reason is: he paid her fine. She appeared in Toronto magistrates' court to save the life of her dog, Zena, a German shepherd, who had bitten a man and a boy. The judge threw out the case presented by the man, but imposed the $1 fine in the case of the boy. If Irene had not pleaded for her dog, it might have been destroyed, but as it was, the man who appeared against the dog drove her and the dog home.

Complete survey

400,000 fruit trees damaged by '55 frost

The Okanagan fruit tree loss from the November, 1955, sudden freeze-up will amount to approximately 400,000 trees up to 10 years of age.

That is the estimate of the horticultural branch of the B.C. Department of Agriculture in compiling in rough form the dead trees and those which were so severely injured that it would be better to remove them than to try and nurse them back to health.

In round figures, the BCDA horticulturists estimate that 30 percent of the young trees in the Okanagan were killed by last winter's frost.

The last count of trees in the Okanagan showed there were 1,288,042 trees in the 1 to 5 and 6 to 10 age group, the former being about double the earlier-planted trees.

Although Okanagan orchardists have endeavored to save a number of injured trees it will probably be found that, in the long run, they will have to be replaced.

R. P. Murray, provincial horticulturist, feels that the fruit grower will be better off in the long run to take out the young injured trees rather than have them limp along producing a partial crop or fruit which will not stand up because of the weakness of the tree itself.

Biggest question mark facing the B.C. Department of Agriculture is what can be done to assist these fruit growers.

It will be another seven years before replacement trees will start bearing any fruit in most instances, and this is a much longer period than faced the farmers who lost their berries or were hurt badly by loss of pasture for their livestock.

WANT DISTRESS LOANS
The Okanagan fruit industry has applied for loans under the distress loan legislation introduced by Victoria last spring.

But the Okanagan needs loans of 10 years' duration, not just short-term aid.

After the 1949-50 winterkill, which ravaged a great number of Okanagan trees, the provincial government "gave" the tree fruit industry $250,000 as direct assistance to growers who needed help to remove the dead trees. The industry assisted in pro-rating this money among the growers.

Despite this precedent, it is unlikely that any similar assistance will be forthcoming from the present government, in view of turn-downs to other segments of agriculture earlier this year.

It is the Victoria view that the land clearing legislation is available to help orchardists clear out their trees but the main problem is how the badly-hit growers can be kept on their land until their trees are back in production.

And that means a period of 10 years.

The B.C. Department of Agriculture has extended its land clearing facilities to the Okanagan and has offered to assist in tree clearing, payment to be carried over a four-year period.

To date, however only a small percentage of orchardists have applied for inclusion in this scheme.

EAST KELOWNA — Parents and friends attended the Junior Red Cross tea, held in the school on Friday last where there was a very interesting display of art by the pupils of Mrs. Griesgby; blueprints of the Kelowna bridge and the display of preserved rattlesnakes and skins which were shown at the fall fair. Afternoon tea was served and the proceeds will go to the Junior Red Cross funds.

Brownies of the 1st East Kelowna Pack who were successful in passing their Golden Hand tests on Saturday last were Shirley Hrynuk and Gwen Smallwood.

The first meeting of the season will be held in the Community Hall, Saturday, November 10 at 1:30 a.m. when girls of seven years of age wishing to become Brownies will be welcomed.

The annual meeting of the badminton club took place in the community hall last week when Peter Stirling was elected president and Arthur Ward secretary-treasurer. Games will be held Thursday of each week in the Rutland High School Gym, starting tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Butler, accompanied by Mrs. F. Mearns, have left for a week's stay in Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bailey spent the weekend visiting members of their family in New Westminster.

Members of the Women's Institute attended the tea and sale of fancy work which was arranged by the Kelowna W.I. in the Institute Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Christie and little son have returned from an enjoyable holiday.

The K.G.E. packinghouse dance took place on Thursday last in the Community Hall with Johnnie Garret and his Music Makers in attendance. Everyone had a good time. Colored hats and noisemakers added to the fun and refreshments were available.

Rutland board of trade favors community holding its own centennial celebration rather than joining in city observance

RUTLAND—Executive of the Rutland Board of Trade has gone on record favoring a community centennial celebration rather than joining City of Kelowna in a joint-observance.

Public meeting will be held November 15 in the Rutland High School and representatives of various organizations are urged to attend. Trade board president Ernie Cripps explained the two types of government grants. The 40 cent per capita grant will be used for a local celebration, while the 60 cent grant is being made for a community project to commemorate B.C.'s centennial year, providing the city or town matches it with an equal amount.

It was suggested that it would be an opportunity for Rutland to develop the local park or construct a small hall for community affairs. The grant for the local celebration might well be the basis for a revival of the former Italy Day, some members felt.

POPULATION FIGURE
Government grant is based on census figures and the question of the exact boundaries of Rutland and the population in the district was raised. A committee was appointed to obtain this information and to make an endeavor to get an official "Rutland district" recognized.

Several resolutions regarding roads and highway matters were passed. The executive endorsed a request for a flasher light at the Rutland corner. They also asked for the erection of Carmi and Beaverdell road signs, to be placed at the same corner and on Highway 97, to indicate the new road through Rutland and Joe Rich Valley. Mileage would also be shown on the signs.

Over 200 women, including newcomers, attend Friendship Tea at First United

More than 200 women, including many newcomers, attended the annual Friendship Tea of the Women's Federation of First United Church held in the United Church Hall recently. Receiving were Mrs. Ella Inches, Federation Friendship convener and Federation president, Mrs. K. Garland, assisted by Mrs. D. M. Perley and Mrs. R. S. Leitch. Besides the newcomers guests included the ladies of the Lloyd-Jones Home, all of whom enjoyed the homely atmosphere that prevailed throughout a delightful afternoon.

Circle convenors poured at each corner of the central table arranged in the form of a large "X", and which was surrounded by a semi-circle of small tables, all pleasantly decorated with autumn flowers and candles in matching tin's. Circle representatives served under the direction of Mrs. A. Jantz and Mrs. J. M. Giblin and three Circles were represented in the kitchen, while members of the remaining Circles, of which there are 14, assisted in the hall.

Mrs. S. Hubble pinned name tags with an autumn motif on each guest as she arrived, and decorations for the hall and the table-covers were in charge of Mrs. G. Crosby, Mrs. F. Y. Hutton ably assisted in the food-planning.

Five best B.C. centennial posters Teachers are setting foundation from which many children gain impressions, BCTF members told Judges, Fred Amess, principal of the Vancouver School of Art, John Korner, president, British Columbia Society of Artists and Peter Downes, advertising executive and member of the Vancouver Art Gallery, hold the five prize-winning posters of the B.C. centennial poster competition.

They were selected from more than 200 entries sent in from amateur and professional artists throughout the province.

The 1,100 post competition was held to find a design suitable to publicize the 1958 centenary.

The five winning artists now will receive cash awards of $100, with an opportunity to compete for the grand award of $400.00 and second and third prizes of $100.00 each.

Winning artists are, in alphabetical order: George E. Crawford, 1110 East 15th Avenue, Vancouver; Herbert Gilbert, 550 Cardero St., Vancouver; Art Hopping, 6788 E. Boulevard, Vancouver; Glenn Startup, 7791 French St., Vancouver; and Dick A. G. Vandenhooft, 1043 St. Georges, North Vancouver.

Gwen Lamont's art exhibit at city library consists entirely of portraits

By DOROTHY GELATLY

Gwen Lamont's art exhibit now in the board-room of the library differs from previous showings in that it consists entirely of portraits, which form of painting she feels to be her forte.

Ever since student days, which she completed by taking the four-year art course at the Ontario College of Art, affiliated with the University of Toronto, this artist, though she enjoys doing landscapes, finds herself returning to the exacting work required of the portrait painter. One of the first requirements in this form of painting is a careful study of anatomy, in which part of her course Mrs. Lamont was keenly interested.

Born in southern Alberta, Mrs. Lamont first attended school in England, but returning to the west, she eventually visited the Okanagan, which she soon grew to love, and has lived at Okanagan Mission for the past ten years. At the time she attended art college in Ontario there was a group of several artists from the west, one of these being Annora Brown, whose exhibit will be the next to appear in the library—on November 15 to 30. These westerners were from Vernon, Fort McLeod, Calgary, and the Peace River, and at the end of their course were made Associates of the Ontario College of Art.

FORM OF ART

As Mrs. Lamont points out, painting is like any other form of art, in that the significant thing that unifies the character of a person of a scene must be more or less exaggerated in order to reveal that characteristic. So it is in her portraits... as for instance that of Joe Ivens against a background of the outdoors that sweeps into the distance—and looking at the man, even an amateur sees that here is a man who is used to looking into the distances of hills and valleys.

On another wall is a portrait of Nancy Johns that even a stranger will recognize as an outdoor girl, vibrant and alive, with character and an alertness that must enable her to get the most out of life. Missing from its place on the day I was there, but hanging now, is a portrait of Eve Davis on horseback in her black riding habit—which again is so typical of this model that it is exactly what one expects to see.

SENSITIVE HAND

Anyone who knew Mrs. Saucier will appreciate the mingling of two races that the artist brings out in this fine old face, that stress the characteristics of both the Indian and the French race. Then there's the warmth and vitality shown in the portrait of a young Vernon boy, with a glimpse of green through the window in the background.

and it is in her backgrounds that Mrs. Lamont reveals her love of landscape.

In other paintings, including one of Mary Bull and several of members of her own family, Mrs. Lamont's likeness must be as striking as are those already mentioned for while I was there, recognized the portraits of any and all that they knew. In one portrait the significant thing that is noticed is the sensibility of the hands of the model, and in others some feature typifies the character of the model; thus, to my surprise, I found portraits as interesting as have been landscapes, which I particularly love.

Mrs. Lamont's exhibit will remain in the library board room until November 15, and will be followed by that of Annora Brown.

Guide notes

Monthly meeting of the Kelowna and District Girl Guide Association will be held at the home of Mrs. C. Curtis, 551 Buckland Avenue on Monday, November 19 at 8 p.m.

The following Brownies were successful in passing their Golden Hand tests:

Okanagan Mission, Evelyn Malick; East Kelowna, Gwen Smalldon, Shirley Hrynuk; Lakeview Heights, Helen Menz, Rita Wales, Marjorie Braw, Arlie Peers, Randy Gray, Joan Lee, Wendy Howes; Glenmore, Valerie Bounds, Shirley Hume; Kelowna, Marion Haddad.

Capacity audience attends "Fashions and Follies" show sponsored by Social Credit Women's Auxiliary

From the carelessly affected pose of a flapper of the '20's to the dignity of a court dress of an earlier era as worn by a local resident on the occasion of her presentation at court, "Fashions and Follies of Yesteryear," produced by the Social Credit Women's Auxiliary at the high school auditorium Friday night, gave a delightful picture of the period from the 1880's to recent times. A capacity crowd attended, and the provincial auxiliary president, Mrs. Florence Gresty, of Kamloops, gave a pleasing and witty commentary as the program proceeded.

Roy Owen opened the entertainment and introduced Mrs. Gresty, who in turn introduced the models who came on stage. Mrs. Ada Webber appeared first, in a costume of the 1820's and ready to take her daily airing was seated in a rocking chair in a room furnished with antiques. Her black tulle dress or costume and white blouse, hand embroidered, was topped with a lace covered cape and she wore her hair in a snood.

THREE-PIECE ENSEMBLE

Mrs. E. Peat was a three-piece ensemble complete with Persian lamb muff, and a cape trimmed with bugle beads, beneath which a deep lace collar covered her bodice. Her bonnet was of straw and horsehair, and the hem of the skirt was corded for weight. Beneath the skirt, a pair of elaborate petticoats trimmed with tiers of handsome hand-crocheted lace.

Mrs. P. Bourque was in a Martha Washington dress and bonnet, the shoulder neckline of which was finished with a deep Bertha collar caught with a cameo brooch. Her bonnet matched her dress and she carried a beaded purse.

Auxiliary president Mrs. M. T. Pendleton wore the regal and strikingly feminine mode of 1912 featuring narrow shoulders and a "mermaid" skirt, in four tiers each of which appeared to be hand-trimmed with glittering sequins, in black as was the entire costume. Her petticoat had a pocket for carrying feminine articles such as a mirror, and perhaps, if the wearer were daring enough, a cosmetic or two, and her Merry Widow hat was strikingly trimmed with ostrich plumes and flowers. With this costume she wore smartly buckled brocade shoes.

Mrs. Milo Sawatsky modeled a smart outfit consisting of a horizontally striped skirt of heavy tulle and a pure silk blouse finely tucked by hand. Empire waist and high neckline, over which was worn a handsome Paisley shawl. Full-length pantaloons were a feature of this outfit, and to top it Mrs. Sawatsky wore a small, very smart hat not unlike some of today's models.

Mrs. W. Bonnet's two-piece outfit consisted of a heavy bengaline skirt and a blouse of fine flannel. The skirt had lace insertion at the hem, and the blouse tied with narrow velvet ties. A feather boa and a neat ostrich-plumed hat completed her ensemble.

An authentic model of taffeta and velvet with a fitted bodice, lace-collared and fastened with a pearl-point brooch, was worn by Mrs. G. K. Thompson, who carried a fan more than 70 years old. A decided bustle-effect featured this costume, and the toque-type hat was heavily feathered and be-ribboned.

HOBBLE-SKIRT ERA
The hobble-skirt era was modeled by Mrs. L. Winters who wore the genuine thing in dashing red, with a peg-top and slit at the back hem. A lovely bell-sleeved chiffon blouse button-trimmed and hand-embroidered was topped with a black feather stole, while the black velvet hat was trimmed with a red ostrich plume. A parasol completed Mrs. Winters' costume.

Mrs. Grace Beck came next, dressed in a long-sleeved, very full and demure, nightie, every stitch of which was hand-done, and still perfect after 75 years. Ready for bed, she carried a candle-stick. A group of ladies in old-fashioned dresses gave a medley of old-time songs, with Jack Weitz joining in the chorus, after which Mrs. Roy Owen brought the parade of fashions to an end by appearing in an exact model of the 1929 flapper, complete in every detail, which brought applause from all, and particularly from those whose memories harked back to those post-war years.

HAREM SCENE
During the interval Mrs. James Kinneer led the audience in a sing-song, after which the curtain went up to show a harem scene of oriental splendor, with Ed Klingball as the sultan. The eastern atmosphere was carried out in the costumes worn by the wives of the harem; Mrs. A. Jantz, as wife No. 1 who made her obeisance before her master and danced for him, as did the remaining five; Mrs. G. K. Thompson, Mrs. Geoffrey Tozer, the favorite wife; Miss Louise Ward, depicting the frivolous wife; Mrs. Harold Wightman, the poor little "newest" wife; and Mrs. Owen as the "special" wife. This scene closed with a gracefully-executed dance by harem entertainer, Lady-of-the-Lake Doreen Serwa.

Between the second and final scenes Jack Weitz and Hart Egg entertained with vocal and banjo.

Hope to perform at Rose Bowl game

This combined trumpet and baton corps, the youngest in Canada, has been invited to perform at the Rose Bowl football game in California on New Year's Day. They want to go, and hope to go, but there is a matter of raising $4,000 to finance the trip. Their parents and the town council of Colborne, Ont., have their heads together figuring out plans to raise the funds, but so far they haven't come up with any guarantee the youngsters will be able to go. They have prefected 15 routines that they are sure would be a hit in the colorful Rose Bowl parade.

Dick and Arnold Watson, who were visiting at the home of their aunt, Mrs. W. Spence and were hunting in the district, have returned home to New Westminster.

"Definitely the wine!"

said the ad man

"What's it called?" said his friend, "Paarl, of course! Paarl South African Sherry. It's tops in my book."

"But isn't that imported wine expensive?"

"Not Paarl! It costs no more than the wine you've been buying."

"You don't say! In that case I'll have to try it."

Former Kelowna resident buried at Vanderhoof

Friends and relatives from far and wide attended funeral services for the late Emil Alfred Ahlm, held from First Memorial United Church at Vanderhoof, on Friday, October 26. Prominent in business and other circles there, the late Mr. Ahlm had, for more than 20 years, been in business in the northern city. He moved to Westbank in 1954, where he died suddenly following a heart attack suffered Saturday, October 20 at the age of 68. Remains were taken to Vanderhoof for burial following a service conducted by Rev. R. S. Leitch in the Chapel of the Kelowna Funeral Directors.

The high regard in which the former Vanderhoof resident was held was evidenced by the large attendance at the impressive rites conducted by J. W. H. Day, Chaplain, and R. A. Anderson, Master of Vanderhoof Lodge No. 110 A.F. & A.M., with which organization Mr. Ahlm had been affiliated for many years.

BORN IN SWEDEN

Born in Skitgate, Sweden, October 24, 1888, deceased emigrated to the U.S. in 1902, first settling in Wisconsin, and later moving to Peoria, Ill. About 1909 he came to Canada, settling at Didsbury, Alta., where he resided for a few years before moving to Youngstown. His first visit to Vanderhoof was made in 1918, where he stayed for a few months, and then moved to Omak, Wash., where he purchased a fruit farm, living there with his family until 1928, at which time he negotiated sale of his fruit farm for the store business conducted in Vanderhoof by M. E. Berger. Moving to Vanderhoof, he lived there for the balance of his business career, retiring in 1950 when he sold his store, at present known as the Vanderhoof Hardware & Furniture.

Accompanied by Mrs. Ahlm he spent the winter of 1951 in Kelowna, and the following two years at Vernon, following the purchase of a home in Westbank in 1954.

Although he had taken up residence in the warmer Okanagan climate for his health, Mr. Ahlm greatly missed the warm friendship of a host of friends in the northern district, and had returned there on several occasions to visit relatives and friends of long standing. His last trip, accompanied by Mrs. Ahlm, was taken last June to attend the 25th anniversary dinner of the Vanderhoof Lodge A.F. & A.M.

COMMUNITY WORKER

During his residence in Vanderhoof Mr. Ahlm was an active worker in community affairs and enjoyed the respect and confidence of all associates. His interests in village affairs were expressed during his term of office on the village commission and as a member of the Vanderhoof and District Board of Trade. He took a keen interest in the work of the Vanderhoof Rod & Gun Club and was a staunch supporter of the Vanderhoof CCF Club. He was also an active worker in Vanderhoof Lodge No. 25 A.F. & A.M. In 1915 he and his friends of long standing, local pharmacist Bob Steen, were lodge members at Youngstown, Alta. In 1943 Mr. Ahlm served as Master of the Vanderhoof Lodge.

Surviving besides his wife, Myrtle, at Westbank, is a daughter, Evelyn, (Mrs. Russell Campbell), a step-daughter, Mrs. Helen Kiel of Calgary, two sons, Bud, at Vanderhoof, and Theo, at Lumby, their respective families and several grandchildren. A sister, Ida, still resides in Sweden.

At the funeral service held in

First Memorial United Church, Vanderhoof, Friday, October 26, at 2:30 p.m., Rev. Gordon McLaven, of the Knox United Church, Prince George officiated, with Mrs. J. E. Johnson at the organ. During the service the congregation joined in singing the same hymns as were sung at the previous service held in Kelowna.

Funeral services were M. Kerr, S. Cocker, M. Page, L. Murphy, W. Bowman and G. Ogston. Funeral arrangements at Vanderhoof were in charge of H. Assman of Prince George, with interment in Vanderhoof cemetery. In Kelowna the Kelowna Funeral Directors were in charge.

Okanagan Mission

OKANAGAN MISSION—Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Reid entertained a group of friends last Wednesday of last week.

Mrs. Arthur Jones, from England, a former resident of the Mission, is renewing old friendships here.

The Junior Red Cross is holding a tea at 3 p.m. at the Okanagan Mission school November 23. Mr. Johnson, municipal inspector, will speak to the parents on report cards, which will be given to the parents.

A lovely Christmas cake will be donated by Mrs. C. Harris to be raffled off in aid of the Junior Red Cross. Everyone is invited.

The annual teachers' supper will be held on November 15 at the school, not on November 12 as previously stated. The ladies of the U-Go-I-Go Club will be the catering.

Mr. Holmes Boyd is a patient at Kelowna General Hospital.

The Okanagan Mission soccer team division No. 1 beat the Grade 5 and 6 elementary team, 3-0 recently.

Mrs. Jack MacLennan is home from Kelowna General Hospital, after a serious illness.

Mrs. Boyd Stubbs entertained the bridge club recently.

Science Shrinks Piles
New Way
Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—
Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain. Thousands have been relieved—without resort to surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a famous scientific institute.

Now you can get this new healing substance in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H*. Ask for it at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Good prospects for extra water storage on Penticton Creek

PENTICTON — A Conservative estimate has placed the Boulder Creek domestic water storage as "possibly between 600 and 700 acre feet," according to preliminary ground-level survey.

City crews are making further ground-level surveys of the situation on this tributary to Penticton Creek.

Last week the crews went into the area via helicopter to make a preliminary ground-level survey. Hand-level checks of the slopes and grades showed that there is a comparatively large basin a half mile in length and extremely wide, where a low level dam might be built. From these checks the 600-700 acre feet capacity was estimated.

Further instrument checks will be made to determine the exact area, the height and length of dam that might be required, and if at all possible, to tally soil-samples.

Civic officials have stated that while there now appears to be a good possibility of storage on Boulder at this point, nothing positive can be determined until further work is done.

The nature of the sub-surface material on which any proposed dam would be built has to be determined. It is not likely that this work can be fully carried out now, although some preliminary study may determine a good portion of the cost of any storage built on the site.

Two strong points in favor of storage as against additional pumping are: storage will aid in withholding water from freshet-flow and lessen creek-flooding danger.

If conditions prove favorable, work on Boulder Creek storage could be started during 1957, if council finances are available for it. Then in the fall of that year, could be carried out on the rebuilding of Penticton Number One, and possibly on Penticton Number Two dams.

Should all of these projects come to fruition, it could mean that Penticton would have ample domestic water-irrigation supply for more than double its present population.

Summerland processor enters tree fruit fray

South Okanagan continues to provide the fireworks in the controversy raging throughout the tree fruit industry and the latest to enter the fray in Summerland's F. E. Atkinson, long connected with the industry, particularly in its processing respects.

Mr. Atkinson, in a lengthy statement released last week, strongly Okanagan or its competitors. This by condensing the attack made on the general manager of B.C. Tree Fruits, R. P. Walrod, by a Kelowna pack-house manager, M. J. dePuyffer, able to integrate the advertising and display of fresh fruit and the processing products from the two segments of the growers' industry.

"The main item, however, that is being overlooked when this point of experience is being advanced is that Mr. Walrod is the general manager. He is responsible for policy and drive. He can, and does, employ individuals who are specialists in their particular fields and it is interesting to observe that no complaints have been levelled at any employees whose actual task is to sell the fruit.

"3. An individual in a position of general manager of a large grower organization has to have the ability to get along with all the various growers and individuals who make up his organization or with whom he does business. I have not heard of any individual or group that have not felt they had a fair hearing from Mr. Walrod.

"And in only a canner's operation? This disparaging remark refers to one of Mr. Walrod's most valuable qualifications. The trend in utilization of fruit is towards more and more fruit being processed each year. (By processed products I mean canned, jammed, dehydrated, juiced, purees, pie fillings, frozen and so forth). This trend is part of the standard of living of our times.

"Up until Mr. Walrod's appointment as general manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. the canners felt they were being treated at least as 'poor relations' they have been very satisfied with the treatment Mr. Walrod has given them. This does not mean that the canners have received fruit at any lower prices, but there has been a sympathetic or knowledgeable understanding of the canner's problems and any items have been straightened out.

"A few facts may illustrate this trend. In 1955 nearly one-half the peach crop was sold to canners; about 2,000,000 boxes of apples were processed; about one-third of the apricots, cherries, peaches and plums were canned. This outlet is too big to receive anything less than full co-operation from the sales agency. Canner prices may also be reviewed for the past five years. These are the prices paid by canners to B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd.:

"Following are a few points to consider:

1. Mr. Walrod brought to his present post a vast knowledge in the container field, and the rapid change-over to new containers for fresh fruit is very much due to his knowledge and background. These containers in most part have been cheaper to purchase and pack and have been more acceptable to the consumer. A study of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd. packing circulars will show the hundreds of thousands of popular new packs that are now being used.
2. In addition to being manager, Mr. Walrod has acted as salesman of B.C. Fruit Processors' products and while selling these had had an opportunity to observe the selling

"These prices have to be competitive with those prevailing in adjacent fruit growing areas. Because of pooling, packing charges on fruit marketed fresh, and the fresh market, the growers sometimes more than the foregoing figures.

"The reference to 'only a canner's operation' does not sound very good after the figures that have just been quoted. The growers might do well to encourage 'canner operators' and not belittle them. For instance, I calculated a grower's average return on several varieties of packed 'Cee' grade from the 1955 crop at $20.36 per ton. Others roughly figured their average returns on packed 'Cee' grade at $25 per ton. The B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd. paid into the general apple pool for commercial fruit delivered to their plants (mainly Cee grade) $30 per ton—a total of $504,600. Most growers would not realize this as the money went into the general pool and merely sweetened the whole deal. Without this money the apple pool would have looked much worse.

"I believe a method will have to be found whereby the money from all processed fruit will be paid to the grower separately so that he knows exactly what canner or other fruit brings. The various deductions should be clearly stated so that he can understand them."

Fire destroys three stores at Princeton

PRINCETON (CP) — An early-morning fire raced through a building in Princeton's business district Sunday, destroying three stores.

Damage was estimated unofficially at $75,000.

The Princeton fire department battled for five hours in a successful attempt to save adjoining buildings.

A Jeweler's store, a clothing store and a bakery housed in the building were destroyed. Owner of the premises is Robert Taylor, who is in England.

Twelve local men attending Vernon course

A number of local men are taking the business management course at Vernon, under the direction of Prof. H. C. Wilkinson, faculty of commerce, UBC.

In all, 42 students from valley points attended last week's opening session. Everard Clarke, chairman of the Board of Trade committee introduced Professor Wilkinson and asked them to uphold the high standard set by last year's class. Last year's president, A. C. Michelson welcomed the students and assisted in the election of the new state of officers. C. E. Sladen, a Kelowna accountant was elected to the executive.

Attending the course from Kelowna are R. J. Bennett, J. R. Charpentier, W. T. Greenwood, R. M. Clarkson, H. B. Earle, Ian Greenwood, H. E. Marshall, P. Rempel, C. E. Sladen, B. J. Saucier, and J. Burch.

It was moved by T. Duggan and seconded by J. McCoubrey that an interior committee of six from Okanagan Centre and Winfield be appointed. Elected were: A. H. Whitehead and A. Gable from Okanagan Centre; J. McCoubrey, T. Duggan, H. Reddecoff, N. Arnold from Winfield. At a public meeting to be held in the near future it will be decided whether the two districts will combine for a celebration and whether a joint or separate building project will be undertaken.

Gordon Edginton is chairman of the poppy campaign which is now underway in the Winfield area. He will conduct a house-to-house canvass. The large poppy sprays can also be obtained from him.

The Winfield community club regrets to announce that badminton has been cancelled until further notice as the hall is being used for dances and the floor is too slippery for play at this time.

October was a mild month Recalls old days in postal office

October was a fair month for the citizens of Kelowna, with little wind, only half an inch of rain, and only five nights with a slight touch of frost.

Low for the month was 29, and high 70 in Kelowna, while up in Joe Rich the temperature climbed to 67 and dropped to 23, with the temperature falling under the freezing mark 20 times during the month.

On Halloween night Kelowna experienced slight traces of snow, and citizens are holding their breath remembering the night of November 10 last year, when the cold and snow struck.

Here are the reports for Kelowna and Joe Rich for October:

High school news

By JACKIE STINSON Along with the girl cheer leaders SOCCER — The Central Valley we had four boys helping to spark soccer champions—our senior high up the games between quarters. school boys, met with defeat for the second time this season. They were very good and we hope to see more of them.

This time it was an important loss as it killed our chances of winning the South Okanagan soccer title. The game was hard fought, and the Kelowna Owls didn't have a score of 2-0 for Oliver was no indication of the playing.

BASKETBALL — The basketball season for KHS opened last Saturday, with two games at Pentiction. The Owlets went out on the top end of a 24-19 score. Our high scorer was Bev Pitt with 10 points.

The Kelowna Owls didn't have a good turnout and the executive of the same kind of luck. They lost the Pentiction High Lakers, 54-32. The high scorer was Glen Delecourt with 13 points, and Vic Nedolin was next with eight.

BADMINTON CLUB — Monday, November 5, an organizational meeting to get a club started after a year's lapse, was held. There was a good turnout and the executive of the same kind of luck. They lost the Pentiction High Lakers, 54-32. The high scorer was Glen Delecourt with 13 points, and Vic Nedolin was next with eight.

pupils have dual controlled car

PENTICTON — You in Pentiction are to be congratulated for being the first city in the Dominion of Canada to have a complete driver training program within the school," said Superintendent of Motor Vehicles George Lindsay during the car presentation ceremony here.

The Pentiction High School was presented with a 1957 model car donated by Valley Motors and sponsored by the United Commercial Travellers. Gas for the vehicle is being donated by Royalite Gas Distributors.

"I hope this program will be copied by the many communities who are without a driver's course," he added.

The vehicle has cream and light green finish and has luminous signs on both the front and back, reading "caution student driver". On the top is a box-like sign, "Pentiction high school driver training course; caution student driver."

Imperial bank manager named at Pentiction

PENTICTON — Named as the manager of the branch of the Imperial Bank to be opened in this city in the immediate future is P. W. Higgins, formerly of Vancouver. New branch will open its doors to the public, in premises on the lower floor of the Board of Trade Building on Main Street, on November 19.

Christmas Light-ups

Always Better With Butter

Ice cream and crunchy almonds top these gay Christmas Light-Ups. But the real flavour is baked right in. It's butter—fresh creamery butter—lending its matchless flavor—enriching with its natural goodness. Remember, for all your festive baking and right through the year, "It's Always Better with Butter".

FREE! Marie Fraser's "Merry Christmas" recipes for cookies and candy. Also her new Butter Booklet.

1. Mix 2 1/2 c. rolled oats, 1 1/2 c. sifted all purpose flour, 1/2 c. brown sugar, 1 tsp. soda and 1/2 tsp. salt. Cut in 1/2 c. butter with pastry blender or knives, till mixture is crumbly.

2. Press half this mixture in the bottom of a well buttered 8" sq. cake tin; spread with 2 c. whole cranberry sauce and sprinkle with 1/2 tsp. grated orange rind and 1/2 c. shredded coconut.

3. Top with remaining oatmeal mixture. Bake 350 F. for 40-45 min. Cut into squares, serve warm or cold. Make "candies" by topping with ice cream rolls; use almonds for "flames".
